SEA QUEEN'S END . . . A FIRE-SWEPT WRECK

Giant Normandie Capsizes at New York Pier—Believed a total loss except for salvage, the fire-swept $60,000,000 luxury liner Normandie, which was taken over by Uncle Sam as an auxiliary war vessel and renamed the Lafayette, rests on its port side at a Hudson river pier . . . toppled by the weight of thousands of pounds of water poured onto it by New York fire fighters. Ravaged by a fire that killed one man and injured at least 220 others, the huge vessel turned over early today — six hours after the blaze was snuffed out.

OFFICIAL NEWS

British forces defending Singapore have slashed back at the Japanese invaders in two violent counter-attacks, defying overwhelming numbers of enemy men, guns and planes, British sources announced today, in a desperate effort to save the island.

The counter-attacks were said to have scored "some measure of success" and British commentators declared that the position of the bastion's back-to-the-wall fighters "certainly is no worse and indications are that in some ways it is better."

An authoritative source said there was no information in London to indicate that the Japanese had entered any part of the city of Singapore.

The Singapore radio, heard in London shortly after 5 p. m. (12 noon, EWT, today), said the situation on the island was "very serious," but that it had "not deteriorated in any way." The broadcast was heard by the official British monitoring service.

The Singapore announcer said heavy fighting continued on the island this morning "with the Japanese attempt to advance still meeting with strong resistance."

Reception was bad and those two sentences were the only part of the broadcast intelligible to listeners here.

All they could hope for, the British commentators said, was to postpone the inevitable fall of the island fortress—unless reinforcements, chiefly in the air, arrive in time.

FORLORN HOPE

That, apparently, was a forlorn hope.

The Japanese already are at a point where they threaten Singapore's reservoirs, its food supplies and vital services.

One counterattack was said to be aimed against the Japanese line from Sungei Kranji, on the Johore strait northwest of the city of Singapore, south to the village of Jurong, and the other against the line southeast from Sungei Kranji to the mid-island village of Mandai.

OFFICIAL NEWS

By C. YATES McDANIEL

The sky over Singapore is black with the smoke of a dozen huge fires this morning as I write my last message from this once beautiful, prosperous and peaceful city.

The roar and crash of cannonade and bursting bombs which are shaking my typewriter and my hands, which are wet with nervous perspiration, tell me without need of an official communique that the war which started nine weeks ago 400 miles away is in the outskirts of this shaken bastion of empire today.

I am sure there is a bright tropic sun shining somewhere overhead, but in my many-windowed room it is too dark to work without electric lights.

Over the low rise where the battle is raging I can see relay after relay of Japanese planes circling, then going into murderous dives on our soldiers who are fighting back in a hell over which there is no protecting screen of our own fighters.

GRAVE PERIL ADMITTED

But the Japanese are not completely alone in the skies this morning, for I just saw two "wild beasts"—obsolete bi-planes with an operating speed of about 100 miles an hour—fly low over the Japanese positions and unload bomb burdens with a resounding crash.

(The grave peril of Singapore was acknowledged by military commentators in London, but they declared violent counter-attacks were being pressed against the invaders with some success

LULL POINTS TO NEW BLOW IN PHILIPPINES

Washington

Feb. 11 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL

Movement of enemy troops indicate an early resumption of an attack in force against Gen. MacArthur's army in the Philippines, the War Department reported today, although the fighting on Bataan peninsula and enemy air activity have lessened.

There have been intermittent interchanges of artillery fire between the American island fortifications at the entrance of Manila bay and Japanese batteries on the Cavite shore of the bay, the department said.

The war communique also said six of the seven enemy planes reported shot down yesterday were destroyed by American fighter planes over Cavite province in one of the most spectacular air battles in the Philippine campaign. One American plane was reported missing.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Japanese four-engined flying boats have bombed Samaral, on the extreme southeastern tip of Australian New Guinea, the Australian radio reported today.

The broadcast, heard in New York by CBS, added "other Japanese machines have made reconnaissance flights over other parts of the New Guinea area, including Port Moresby."

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Feb. 11 (AP)—British reconnaissance forces in Libya have been thrown back and planes of the German Air Force have inflicted considerable losses on their rolling stock, the German communique said today.

NAZI GENERAL SLAIN AS REDS SMASH AHEAD

Moscow

Feb. 11 (AP)

Tass declared today Red Army troops had captured German fortifications in stubborn fighting on a southwestern sector and 2750 invaders were reported to have been killed in a series of Russian offensive operations extending from Leningrad to the southern front.

Guerrilla grenadiers slew a German general by blowing up a staff car in the Smolensk region west of Moscow and Soviet soldiers repulsed a counter attack which cost the Germans 850 dead on the southern front, the Soviet information bureau said.

"Our units operating on one sector of the Leningrad front in one day's fighting annihilated 1500 men and officers," the communique went on.

Tass reported Germans in one southwestern zone were "exerting

School Children Join 'Buy Bombers' Drive

Leading the ranks of school children throughout America, the children of Boston will add $100,000 this month to the "Buy a Bomber" campaign, responding to the national need to create for the United States the mightiest air force in the world.

This pledge of $100,000 will bring to a total of $620,000 the amount pledged for the purchase of defense stamps and bonds in the first two days of the "Buy a Bomber" drive.

And the school children of Massachusetts, 800,0000 strong will purchase $500,000 worth of stamps and bonds during the month, including the Boston sales, according to the estimate made yesterday by State Commissioner of Education Walter F. Downey.

During January alone, the children of Boston have purchased a total of more than $80,000 in stamps and bonds, a record for the schools throughout the country.

Today, responding anew to the needs of their nation, they join in the four-week BUY A BOMBER drive, in co-operation with the Treasury Department's Defense Bond Savings Staff, and the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

The patriotism and spirited efforts of school children and teachers alike receive tribute today in a letter to the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser from Clement A. Norton, chairman of the Boston School Committee. He writes:

"It is with great pleasure I add my endorsement to the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser 'Buy a Bomber' campaign. Boston's school children with their pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters will add $100,000 this month to BUY BOMBERS for the defense of our land.

"We of the School Committee are very proud of the manner in which the Boston school children responded in the matter of

DUTCH DRIVE OFF JAPS AT SOERABAJA

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Feb. 11 (AP)—Netherlands Indies fighter planes intercepted and broke up a Japanese bombing formation before it could reach its objective, the Soerabaja naval base, the Indies high command announced today.

The communique, issued through the news agency, ANETA, acknowledged a direct attack on Macassar, capital and chief port of Celebes on the island's southwestern arm, in saying the Japanese had carried out landings there, at Balangnipa across the peninsula, and at Djeneponto.

But the Dutch asserted that "the destruction which had been previously ordered" in the Macassar area "has been thoroughly executed." Yesterday's communique had reported only that there were landings in the vicinity of Macassar.

Dutch troops were said to have inflicted "losses" on Japanese units advancing on Maro, north of Macassar, while four Indies soldiers were wounded slightly in a machine-gunning attack by an enemy plane.

Three Dutch planes were acknowledged lost in last Monday's raid on airdromes near Batavia, the Indies capital. Four of the airmen were killed.

The communique also reported a new Japanese machine-gunning attack on Fak Fak, on the southwest coast of New Guinea, which did little damage.

Could Happen Only in U. S.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—Cornelius W. Smith, Negro, died last August at 74. Residents for whom he had worked 40 years as a handyman—mowing lawns, fixing faucets, tending gardens and furnaces—felt he probably left his widow just about enough money to live comfortably.

In surrogate court yesterday his estate was valued at $103,164.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (INS)—Believed poverty stricken at the time she was found dead in a cheap room in 1939, Mrs. Jeanette Lincoln was found today to have left an estate of $464,428, of which $409,333 was in cash. The money was discovered hidden in safety deposit boxes.

DUTCH ADMIRAL TAKES OVER HART'S COMMAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Navy announced today that Admiral Thomas C. Hart had been relieved of his assignment as chief of Allied naval forces in the western Pacific and that Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich of the Royal Netherlands Navy had been designated as his successor. The Navy said Hart was ill.

Hart, 64, requested to be relieved from the all-important naval command because of his health but no information as to the nature of the illness was given out.

(Washington commentators said that although there was every indication the withdrawal of Admiral Hart from the Far East command was for the reasons stated, the elevation of Vice Admiral Helfrich was certain to have an ameliorating effect on the Dutch who have been resentful for some time because they were not accorded a high place in the unified Allied command.)

Hart formerly was commander

HUB BLACKOUT EMERGENCY KITS STOLEN

Theft or destruction of emergency wire rods, which were attached to thousands of gas and electric street light standards was reported today by officials of the Boston public safety committee who denounced it as "a wave of vandalism and nothing short of sabotage."

Explaining that wire rods had been placed on 9000 gas light standards and on 2400 manually-controlled electric light standards, to permit air wardens to extinguish man John J. Walsh called upon police and the public to co-operate in stopping the vandalism.

"The punishment will be severe for anyone caught tampering with or stealing these appliances, which are solely for the protection of the public during blackouts or aor raid alarms," Walsh warned.

Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, chief blackout officer for the city, declaring that the theft or destruction of the lighting devices was alarming, added:

"I ask every citizen, especially school children, to co-operate with the police in halting this menace, by reporting immediately all such suspicious acts."

Retread Rationing Will Start Feb. 19

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced today that rationing of retreaded and recapped tires would begin Feb. 19 and that it was probable that "there will be no crude rubber available for retreading, except for the small number of vehicles already eligible to obtain new tires and tubes."

The new rationing program, which includes the rationing of "camelback," the rubber compound used in the retreading process, will be carried out by the present tire rationing boards.

Henderson said the War Production Board would determine each month the amount of crude rubber which could be used in making the compound.

"None will be available this month for the retreading of passenger car tires, and perhaps none for the month of March.

"Events will dictate the future production of this material. OPA is providing regulations broad enough to ration as much camelback as the War Production Board can make available out of our limited rubber supply."

Two groups of eligibles are established under the retreading program.

One, except for the addition of clergymen, is generally the same as the one in effect for new tire rationing; the other is confined exclusively to vehicles eligible to apply for retread or recap tire certificates. No vehicle on the second list will be able to obtain a retread during February, Henderson said.

The second group of retread eligibles includes "passenger automobile" vehicles used for taxicabs, transportation of executives, engineers, technicians and workers connected with essential war operations such as car companies, transportation or communication facilities, agricultural and industrial operations and military or naval establishments; federal, state, or local government officials and employes; traveling salesmen, transportation of farm produce and supplies, and transportation of newspapers for wholesale delivery.

The retread rationing plan was made effective on Feb. 19 to permit persons who now have tires in retreading establishments to have the work finished or get their old tires back. After Feb. 19, no retreaded tires can be obtained, the regulations state, even though the work has been on order for some time and even though the worn tire is owned by the person who ordered its repair—unless his order is accompanied by a rationing certificate.

Tobin Ouster Ruling Near

Three Superior Court justices today pondered a challenge by counsel for Mayor Tobin of their jurisdiction in a petition brought by five voters in an attempt to oust the mayor on the ground of allegedly corrupt campaign practices.

The trio, Judges Joseph Walsh, Jesse Morton and James C. Donnelly, promised a decision by tomorrow and gave counsel for the petitioners until 2 p. m. today to file briefs.

Counsel for the latter are Emil E. Fuchs and Francis E. Kelly, while Mayor Tobin's interests are handled by former Federal Judge Hugh D. McLellan, Edward M. Dangey and Timothy F. Callahan.

The mayor's counsel contend the petition against Tobin had not been brought validly, since one had not signed personally and two others had not been declared protestors at the time the petition first was filed.

LAURA INGALLS 'CONSOLED' BY MEIN KAMPF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—A federal court jury heard today that Laura Ingalls, noted American aviatrix, used excerpts from Hitler's writings at rallies sponsored by the America First committee last fall.

The government introduced a letter written by Miss Ingalls to Julia Kraus, a Washington friend, and star government witness, in which the flier said she was quoting from Hitler's "My New Order" in America First speeches.

Miss Ingalls is being tried on a charge of acting as a Nazi agent without registering with the State Department.

She wrote Miss Kraus, the government contended, that "the black book," which Miss Kraus said was a compilation of Hitler's utterances, "breathes inspiration from every paragraph."

In another letter to Miss Kraus, the aviatrix wrote that she "found consolation in the good book." The "good book," Miss Kraus testified, was Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

Miss Engalls told Miss Kraus, the witness continued, that Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida was "a combination of a convict and a Simon Legree." Pepper has supported the Administration policy of aiding the Allies since the war started in Europe.

The aviatrix asked Miss Kraus to pass her letters along to Baron Ulrich Von Kienanth, former second secretary at the German embassy, and to ask him for "direction," the witness said.

Miss Kraus, who said she had served as an intermediary between Miss Ingalls and German embassy officials, identified a letter in which Miss Ingalls told her she was willing to take orders "for the sake of what I believe."

MRS. FLORENCE PICCO AND OFFICER JAMES CUSICK
Woman, Held in Stabbing; Visits Children Today

Cop to Escort Mother of 4 on Visits Home

Whenever Mrs. Florence Picco, 26, estranged wife of Ronald Picco, a fisherman of Woodville st., Roxbury, desires to visit her four children, a police officer will accompany her to preserve the peace.

This was decreed today by Judge Frankland W. L. Miles in Roxbury court, when Mrs. Picco appeared on a continuance, charged with stabbing her husband with a fisherman's knife during an altercation at the home a week ago.

Mrs. Picco, who had previously been arraigned and held in $500 for hearing, asked for a further continuance on the ground that her attorney was ill and unable to appear.

Counsel for the husband asked the court to keep Mrs. Picco from visiting the home, stating that she was unfit to care for the children and that they were afraid of her.

"I think the court will decide whether I am a fit mother," Mrs. Picco retorted. She denied beating the children.

Picco, recovering from a deep stab wound in the left thigh, hobbled on crutches to the witness stand and told the court that his wife had poisoned the minds of his children and that she had assaulted him with a fisherman's knife.

Judge Miles, in continuing the case until Feb. 25, instructed Patrolman James Cusick of Station 9 to accompany Mrs. Picco whenever she desired to visit her children.

Fitzgerald Sees Hub 'Detroit of Aviation'

By FRANK REILLY

Boston 10 years hence may well be the Detroit of Aviation if local business men will only become air-minded, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald declared today to friends who called at his Hotel Bellevue apartment to extend good wishes on his 79th birthday.

"We've been stagnant here for years. The smug complacency prevailing in every avenue of our business life in recent years must be discarded," the man who served as chief executive of Boston in 1906-7 and again from 1910 to 1913, declared as he revealed that he has himself recently completed a 15,000 mile air tour of the nation.

"Never in our history has the door of opportunity been opened wider to young men than now," he said. "My advice to the lad who plans to enlist for service in the present conflict is, 'Get into the air service.'

"Today the Army, Navy and Marines offer opportunity to young men with vision which will affect the entire future courses of their lives. Every boy with ambition can today become either a pilot, an airplane mechanic or a designer of new and improved planes.

"Master a trade or profession which will give you a place in the tremendous expansion of aviation which will follow the war. The airplane will be developed after this period just as was the automobile. Boston will become the heart of the American aviation industry unless our business leaders miss the bus.

URGES SCHOOL COURSE

"The times demand that our school authorities take immediate steps to provide proper technical education for at least 5000 Boston boys.

The former mayor, planning a quiet observance for today, predicted that this war will be long and costly.

"Those Japs are tough," he said. "We must not underestimate them. But we can lick them.

"Thirty years ago on a visit to Germany I talked to the former Kaiser Wilhelm, and he said then that Great Britain, the United States and Germany should get together to crush the Japs.

"Hitler has no sincere desire for a Japanese victory. He knows that a victorious Japan would compel the Chinese to work for two cents a day under threat of starvation and that with the products of those helpless people together with those of their own underpaid workers, Nippon would destroy the commerce of every European nation including Germany."

PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE

The former mayor presented copies of a quotation from George Bernard Shaw.

"This is the best interpretation of my viewpoint on life," he said, adding with a smile: "Of course, I am not as old as Shaw."

The Shaw quotation read:

"I am of the opinion that my life belongs to the community and as long as I live it is my privilege to do with it whatever I can.

"I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work the more I live.

"I rejoice in life for its own sake. Life is no brief candle for me, it is a sort of splendid torch which I have lighted and want to make burn as brightly as possible before passing it on to future generations."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—If you don't think this is your war and it's costing money to fight it, take a look at the records.

That doesn't include appropriations involving an additional $246 per capita which the House appropriations committee began considering today with a view to Congressional approval next week.

Landis Bans Dancer But O.K's Douglas

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—Screen Actor Melvyn Douglas will remain at his OCD post, Director James M. Landis told a press conference today, but he indicated dancer Mayris Chaney would be removed from her post, should the physical fitness division fall under his jurisdiction.

At the same time, Landis expressed the 'hope" Mrs. Roosevelt would continue as head of the community and volunteer participation of the OCD, "at least" until a reorganization of the division has been completed.

DANCER OUT OF OCD

Landis explained the Federal Security Agency, the Budget Bureau and himself were studying the question of whether the physical fitness division is properly under OCD or under the Federal Security Agency.

Landis conceded there would be no place for Miss Chaney's child health activities in the physical fitness unit in the OCD if it fell under his jurisdiction.

He emphasized if the physical fitness division falls under the OCD the accent would be on improving the health of young men who are to go into the Army in the next one, two or three years, and for persons engaged in production.

Landis revealed he would 'ask the Hollywood employers of Douglas to release the screen actor from picture commitments to enable him to devote his full time to the the marshalling of talent for OCD educational purposes.

NO SALARY FOR DOUGLAS

Landis stated Douglas was not being paid $8000 a year, but was working "without compensation," but being paid $10 a day for expenses, plus travel allowances.

Asked if his conception of the physical fitness unit's duties would remove such activities as child welfare and women's health educational activities, Landis replied "I believe it does."

Landis said Mrs. Roosevelt's reorganization of her division of the OCD would be completed "in a matter of weeks at the most."

He refused to indicate whether the First Lady would continue as an official of the OCD

MOTHER, 3 CHILDREN BADLY INJURED IN ROXBURY FIRE

A young Roxbury mother and her three young children were critically injured and burned today when flames swept their second floor apartment on Ray st., Roxbury, forcing the former to plunge headfirst out a window.

The mother, Mrs. Constance Monroe, 28, suffered a broken wrist, internal injuries and lacerations in her fall, broken by another occupant of the house, William Cunningham, who attempted to catch her.

William Cunningham

The three children, Thomas, 3; Robert, 4, and Herbert, 7, all were burned. They were carried to safety by Albert Egershein, 33, of Regent st., who heard their screams and came running from his home around the corner.

Monroe, a night worker, was not at home when flames broke out in the kitchen of the home. Screams of the family awoke a dozen occupants of the duplex three-family dwelling, all of whom fled in nightclothing.

Cunningham, who lives on the third floor, helped out his wife and the latter's sister, Catherine Kline, 18, and then ran to the rear of the building just in time to see Mrs. Monroe poised in the window screaming for aid. She jumped into his arms. He suffered a fractured ankle and also was taken to City Hospital.

Also escaping were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lydon and their daughter, Cathleen, 8 weeks, occupants of the first floor.

In the other half of the duplex building, the following were driven out: Mrs. Doris Squeezy and her sons, Thomas and John; Mr. and Mrs. George Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Waugh and their children, Eleanor, 1, and Robert, 3.

TURKS GIVE U. S. GOODS TO REDS AS DEBT OF HONOR

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—An informed semi-diplomatic source said today the Turks had agreed, in payment of an old debt of honor, to the diversion to Russia of a part of American and British consignments of war materials to Turkey.

During the early days of the Turkish republic, when the Soviet position was none too secure, the Russians sent military aid to the Turkish independence army and backed up the Turks diplomatically.

Now, this source said, the Turks are evening up the score by sacrificing needed armaments so Russia may have them.

MISSING HEIRS CASE RECORDS MUTILATED

Mutilation of valuable records in the sweeping probe of the statewide million-dollar "missing heirs" racket was revealed today by Bristol County officials while two Boston lawyers were arraigned in Worcester on 10 indictments growing out of the investigation.

James B. Kelley, Jr., Bristol County register of probate at Taunton, said the records were tampered with last week when an unidentified man was given permission to study them.

"Several Suffolk County lawyers are under suspicion," Kelley said.

Nathan Shapiro, 42, of 17 Arlington st., Brookline, and Philip J. Aronson, 52, of 91 Marion ave., Brookline, both lawyers, pleaded not guilty in Worcester court to 10 indictments each charging them with larceny and conspiracy.

A third lawyer, Charles L. Perriello, 42, of Medford, also was called for arraignment but did not appear.

Shapiro and Aronson already awaiting trial in Middlesex Superior Court on 3 3indictments charging larceny, conspiracy to commit larceny and conspiracy to fraudently obtain signatures of various Middlesex County Probate Court judges.

SENTENCES APPEALED

Aronson and Perriello were recently convicted in Worcester on charges involving long-forgotten estates. The former was given a two-year House of Correction sentence, but appealed, and Perriello was sentenced to State Prison for three to five years. He also appealed and both are free on bail.

Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley of Bristol County indicated a special grand jury session will be called to continue the probe in that section. He expected to confer with Asst. Atty.-Gen. Frank G. Volpe today or tomorrow on suspicions involving 10 estates in the county.

Crossley said a petition for administration of an estate, involving a ban kaccount of $697 had been mutilated. He said important signatures had been ripped from the petition.

He will still help win the Victory

Today, on the 95th anniversary of his birth, America pays tribute to a great benefactor, Thomas Alva Edison, prolific and renowned inventor, notably of the carbon telephone transmitter, the phonograph, the incandescent electric lamp, the motion picture camera, the alkaline storage battery, and methods of generating, regulating and distributing electric current for light, heat and power that are now in use.

Endowed with keen insight, and exceptional foresight, he visualized and invented an extraordinary number of devices contributory to human progress.

And let us not forget that as President of the Naval Consulting Board he helped win the victory in the last war. The contributions he made in that capacity are today the means of solving many problems that now confront this country.

His life of service, his spirit of self-sacrifice stand today as a source of courage for us all.

JUNIOR ARMY SOON TO RECEIVE PLANE MODEL SPECIFICATIONS

Practice making the types of airplane models needed—solid, light wood models—on a scale of one to 72 inches, with careful attention to features that help identify the particular type of plane.

This is the suggestion to model building enthusiasts of the Junior Victory Army of New England.

It was contained in a letter from the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy Dept. at Washington to Boston headquarters of the Junior Army.

Headquarters had asked the bureau for all possible information on the Navy's call for 500,000 model planes for use in its traing program.

In reply the bureau stated plans and specifications for the construction of the models will be sent to high schools throughout the country as soon as local quotas are determined. It is hoped this will not be later than Feb. 23.

NAVY SPONSORSHIP

While these quotas are being decided the bureau suggests that as much practice as possible be made.

Junior Birdmen, young members of the National Aeronautic Ass'n and members of other aviation leagues throughout New England are expected to help in this program.

The Navy Department is sponsoring the program through the U. S. Office of Education and the local high schools, public nad private, will receive the drawings as soon as they are completed.

OVER 9000 ENROLL

The models will be used to help our flying cadets in their training course to determine type, identification and range.

New information on this phase of defense reaching the Junior Victory Army headquarters here will be passed on to the model builders as soon as it is received.

All boys and girls of New England, whether they belong to any other youth organization or not, are invited to enroll in the Junior Victory Army and serve their country and community in this time of emergency.

Those who have already enrolled, and they now number more than 9000, are urged to enlist their chums and classmates.

To enroll is easy. All you need do is clip out the enrollment coupon appearing with this story and follow its instructions. The coupon appears daily in the Evening American, the Daily Record and the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Simply filling out the enrollment blank and mailing it in makes you a member of this fast-growing civilian defense movement for boys and girls.

WEAR INSIGNIA

If you want the attractive red, white and blue insignia pin as an identification of your membership enclose a ten cent coin (well wrapped) with your enrollment blank. The pin is a metal facsimile of the insignia appearing at the top of the coupon and can be worn on your coat, blouse or cap. Do not stick the coin to the coupon.

All members will be proud to wear the pins as a symbol of their membership in the Junior Army. They will be distributed by mail to all members who have sent dimes with their enrollment blanks as soon as they are received from the manufacturer.

This week throughout New England Junior Victory Army members in ones, in twos and in larger groups are urged to give their spare time to collecting papers, rubbish and old metals from attics and basements.

This salvage program will reduce fire hazards by removing inflammables and help the conservation call of civilian defense officials by the recovery of valuable metals for war production needs.

Among new recruits of the Junior Victory Army are members of the Mattapan Pharaoh chapter, A. Z. A., junior B'nai B'rith organization, who are selling defense stamps and bonds to persons unable to obtain these themselves. In its third week the members sold about $50 worth of defense stamps. The members include George Goldberg, chairman; Harold Wilfand, Alvin Colker, Audry Hurwitz and Harvey Grant.

Here are four more letters sent in with the enrollment blanks of enthusiastic new members of the Junior Army:

DAD IN PACIFIC

From Audrey Ann Reid, 1 Lummus ave., Danvers:

"I am very happy to be able to have a part in the defense of our country. If the boys and girls in the Junior Victory Army learn what to do and how to take care of themselves in an emergency it will mean that older and trained civilian defense workers will have more time to take care of older people and little children. Perhaps we can learn simple first aid and be able to help others."

From Edward Lee Long, 67 East Foster st., Melrose:

"I am enrolling in the Junior Army because I want to do my bit to help my country like my dad and brother are doing. My dad is somewhere in the Pacific with the U. S. Navy. My brother is a naval pilot. I want to help too."

From Hope Gilbert, Danielson, Ct.:

"I am enclosing my enrollment. I am very much interested in selling defense stamps and also in photography."

From Alda Piantedosi, 1305 Commonwealth ave., Allston:

"I will be proud to be a member of the Junior Victory Army and do my duty for my country. No one in my schoolroom is a member. As soon as I tell them I am a member of the Junior Army I'll bet all my classmates will join and be proud to help our grand country."

Americans Among 120 Saved on Sunken Ship

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Feb. 11 (AP)—An American ship rescued all 120 passengers and crew—including some United States women and children—found adrift in lifeboats after their vessel had been shelled and sunk by the enemy, it was learned.

The first boat lowered from the doomed ship, containing women and children, capsized but by a seeming miracle it was righted by the crew, and all the occupants rescued.

"23 skiddoo", said the children—

—as they listened to the old fisherman's pipe dream. "Some day," he told them, "they'll find a way to keep fish perfectly fresh a long time. They'll send it everywhere and people who want a real shore dinner won't have to come all the way to New England to get it. When that day comes, I don't see how they can catch enough fish to keep all the country supplied . . ."

Of course, the children laughed, it being 1908 and quick freezing 20 years in the future. But it all came about, just as the sailor said. Today, even with the big 40-Fathom trawler fleet fishing continuously, it is difficult to keep up with the nation's growing appetite for "the seafoods with that fresh-caught flavor."

47 SURVIVORS OF TWO SHIPS REACH CANADA

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 11 (AP)—Exhausted and wounded survivors from two more ships sunk in the Western Atlantic rested here today, 18 of them Canadians from a tanker.

The 18 were among 20 from the vessel who drifted three days and two nights in a lifeboat before a freighter picked them up. Twenty-seven others were from a Greek vessel that an Axis submarine pounded under the surface with a 3½-hour shelling.

The Canadians landed here without knowledge of the fate of 28 other men from their torpedoed ship who left it in two lifeboats. The missing men, mostly Canadians, included also one American and the captain and all his deck officers.

The rescued said a double-barrelled attack came without warning in darkness so intense that they were amazed the submarine, which showed not a glimmer of light, was able to spot its quarry.

The first torpedo struck on the starboard side at 7:45 a. m., and a second crashed into the engine room through the port side a half-hour later. The lifeboats got away under cover of darkness, their men failing to catch a glimpse of the attacker.

The seamen from the Greek vessel said gunning of the lifeboats by the submarine killed two in the lifeboats. Another jumped from the ship and was lost.

Honor Soldier Who Gave 1st Hawaii Alarm

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The soldier whose detection of approaching airplanes might have turned Pearl Harbor into a Japanese defeat has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, promoted from private to sergeant and chosen for officer training.

The Army acknowledgment of the alertness of the soldier, Sergt. Joseph L. Lockard of Williamsport, Pa., was contained in last night's War Department communique, which said:

"On Dec. 7, 1941, Sgt. Lockard, then a private on duty in Hawaii, was in charge of an aircraft detector unit. He voluntarily remained on duty after hours and during that period detected the approach of a flight of unidentified planes which afterwards proved to be the Japanese airplanes which made the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor and military installations. This service of Sgt. Lockard was noted in the recent report of Justice Roberts and his associates who investigated the Pearl Harbor attack.

"In recognition of his services, Sgt. Lockard was recently promoted from private to staff sergeant and he has been designated to attend the Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., beginning March 13, next."

The Roberts report explained that Lockard reported the approach of the planes (132 miles distant), to the duty officer, an inexperienced lieutenant who thought they were American craft and failed to sound an alarm.

British Sink Axis Ship, Hit 2 More in Convoy

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—British submarines have sunk one Axis supply ship and torpedoed two others, one of which almost certainly sank, in new attacks on enemy transport lanes in the Mediterranean, the admiralty announced.

Each of the ships was in a separate convoy, the admiralty said, and in all three attacks the British submarines struck despite heavy protection for the convoys, including planes.

She made it, though—on a submarine.

"Just before the attack on Pearl Harbor, wives of Navy men were ordered evacuated from the Canal Zone," Mrs. Anderson explained. "I had a seat in a plane bound for Haiti, but dogs aren't allowed to fly.

"She's traveled with us so many places I couldn't bear to leave her, so we got her onto a submarine."

Mrs. Anderson, then on a steamer, and Molly May were reunited at a Caribbean port.

'Pack Up Your Troubles' Author Dies in Britain

BRIGHTON, England, Feb. 11 (AP)—Felix Powell, composer of the World War No. 1 marching song, "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," died last night of a gunshot wound suffered in a home guard headquarters.

Powell, who was about 60, wrote the music and his brother George the words of what turned into one of the most popular songs of the last war, much to their surprise.

They had thought their effort was a failure and left it forgotten in a drawer until a music firm offered a prize for a marching song.

"Pack Up Your Troubles" won the award and earned the brothers about $48,000

Fall of Singapore To Japs Seen Near

sources declared the Japanese penetrated the western limits of Singapore city, in the southeast corner of the island today.

(In Batavia, it was reported that the British had blown up all stores and installations in the naval base to keep them from falling into enemy hands.)

Military commentators declared the Japanese had not landed at the naval base, on Johore Strait opposite the enemy line on the Malayan mainland, and said that the railroad crossing the island from Johore to Singapore city had not been cut.

These sources declared there was no indication either that the Japanese had put "large numbers of troops" across the causeway from Johore, although it was conceded that the situation remained "very serious."

(The British blew up the causeway—the only bridge between Singapore and the Malay Peninsula—but the Japanese reported yesterday that they had restored it.)

Simultaneously, the opinion was advanced in some quarters that Singapore's predicament might place the heaviest strain thus far imposed upon the people's unreserved faith in Prime Minister Winston Churchill, although there was no apparent support for reports his leadership would be crucially challenged.

There were indignant predictions the present cabinet structure could not survive the fall of Singapore—that even Churchill himself would fail to silence the clamor against some of his ministers.

There was virtually no news from Singapore—and what little came through told in vague generalities of more Japanese troops pouring onto the island.

Some reports said that besides dive bombing and machine-gunning the British troops, other swarms of Japanese bombers were carrying out "pattern bombing" thousands of feet over the battlefield.

Although the spirit and will of Dunkirk and the battle of Britain remained fundamentally undiminished in the British people, they found it hard to reconcile themselves to what was generally accepted as another imminent military reversal.

"The gravest news from Singapore is the lack of it," said the Daily Express military expert, Morley Richards.

The Daily Express, acknowledging that the "agony of Singapore" spread gloom and anger throughout Britain, said, however, that the "only feeling of any use to Churchill as a leader is a cold-blooded resolve to work and fight. . . . The chief factor in helping Churchill form such judgments must be his knowledge of the full and unwavering confidence and resolution of his own people."

British Say Axis Aided by Petain

LONDON, Feb. 11 (INS) — The Ministry of Economic Warfare charged officially today that the Vichy government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain had sent large supplies to Axis forces under the command of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in North Africa.

Previously it was not clear whether the supplies had been sent by the Vichy government or merely cleared through Tunisia with the knowledge and help of French authorities.

These supplies included 2000 tons of gasoline during December and another 1500 tons in January, it was stated.

During the latter month, it was added, Vichy sent 200 tons of high-test aviation fuel, 200 trucks and private automobiles, 400 tons of wheat (sufficient to feed 10 divisions for a month) an dapproximately 500 tons of olive oil.

(It was reported in Washington that the United States has sent a strong note of protest to Vichy concerning French aid to the Axis forces in North Africa.)

BRITISH BLAST JAP DRIVE AT BURMA ROAD

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 11 (AP)—British bombers have smashed at Japanese concentrations at Chiengrai in the far north of Thailand (Siam), where the Japanese have been gathering presumably for an attack on the section of the Burma Road defended by Chinese troops, it was announced today.

An RAF communique said British bombers, with fighter escorts, also lashed at "enemy positions in the Martaban sector." (This may be an implicit British confirmation of yesterdays' Tokyo report that the Japanese had forced a crossing of the lower Salween river and occupied Martaban.)

(Dispatches from Chungking, quoting Maj.-Gen. Lancelot E. Dennys, head of the British military mission in China, said the Chinese army which has moved into the Shan states of Burma clashed for the first time with Japanese invaders.

(The location of the encounter was not given, but earlier dispatches from Chungking said the Japanese had concentrated at least two divisions at Chiengmai, a railroad about 100 miles from the their forces northeastward toward Chiengsen, almost directly on the border ,for a smash through the barren 10,000-foot peaks of Tenen Taung Zyi mountains. Chiengrai is about is about 30 miles from the border, between Chiengmai and Chiengsen.)

Singapore Reporter Pens Last Sad Story

and that the defense position "certainly is no worse and indications are that in some ways it is better."

(In Batavia it was acknowledged that the British had blown up stores and machinery in the Singapore naval base.)

(Tokyo broadcasts said imperial headquarters declared in a communique today Japanese forces entered "the city area of Singapore" at 8 a. m., local time (7 p. m., eastern war time, Tuesday).

BRITISH FIGHT BACK

British fighter pilots still were taking on the enemy against overwhelming odds.

It makes me ashamed of myself, sitting here with my heart beating faster than their old motors, when I think what chance those lads have of getting back in their antiquated machines.

If ever brave men earned undying glory, those RAF pilots have this tragic morning.

There are many other brave men in Singapore today.

Not far away are anti-aircraft batteries in open spaces—they must be to have a clear field of fire.

Please overlook the break in continuity but a packet of bombs just landed so close I had to duck behind a wall which I hoped would —and did—screen the blast.

But those gun crews keep on fighting, their guns peppering smoke into the limited ceiling every time Japanese planes come near—that, almost constantly.

The all clear has just sounded—what a joke!

From the window I can see three Japanese planes flying low but a mile away.

A few minutes ago I heard a tragic two-way telephone conversation.

Eric Davis, director of the Malayan Broadcasting Corp., urged Governor Sir Shenton Thomas for permission to destroy the outlying broadcasting station. The governor demurred, saying the situation was not too bad, and refused to issue a direct order.

ORDERED TO STAND BY

Davis telephoned the station in question, instructing the staff to keep on the air but to stand by for urgent orders.

We tuned in on its wavelength. In the middle of a broadcast in Malayan, urging the people of Singapore to stand firm, the station went dead.

I am leaving now in a car which I swear I will put into forward gear and head straight into the Straits of Malacca.

I left one car for the Japanese in Nanking in 1937 but never again.

Don't expect to hear from me for many days but please inform Mrs. McDaniel, Hotel Preanger, Bandoeng, Java, that I have left this land of the living and the dying.

GIVEN 10 MINUTES TO GO

At my elbow while I write this last dispatch is Captain O. K. Fearon, the minister of information adviser on censorship, who is breakfasting on biscuits and brandy.

Henry Steel, Army public relations officer, who has seen us through a bad situation from the Thailand border to Singapore, has just told me I have 10 minutes to pack up and leave.

When Henry says "go," I go. So goodby to Singapore.

F. Y. Tong of Canton, who has been the landlord for the British ministry of information and the Malayan subsidiary of the BBC, just showed me three famous Chinese paintings he is carrying with him to the vessel on which the ministry of information, the Malayan broadcasting subsidiary and I—first to arrive and last to leave of the foreign correspondents—are taking our chances of getting clear of this close-beleaguered fortress.

A bizarre account of life in Singapore under the Japanese planes and guns was dispatched by McDaniel at 7:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. E. W. T. Tuesday), the last word received from him until the dispatch Wednesday morning. He told of the furious British resistance to the Japanese but said they were falling back from the outer ring of defenses under the merciless enemy assaults by air and land.

Then he gave this word picture of the city under siege:

I looked down on Singapore in the late (Tuesday) afternoon on a scene of striking contrasts.

OIL TANKS ABLAZE

To the north columns of black smoke billowed skyward from burning oil tanks, providing a somber backdrop for the stage on which the grim drama is reaching its climax.

The opposing guns ceased their pounding for a brief moment but, darting in and out of the drifting clouds of smoke, Japanese dive-bombers were delivering their last loads of the day before darkness called them back to their bases.

Near the center of the stage, clouds of light gray smoke arose from rubber plants, canneries and factories to which the owners had applied the torch to prevent their use by the enemy.

The scene to the south was one of unnatural calm. In the far distance, wisps of smoke spiralled slowly over fishing villages on the small Dutch islands which dot the straits between Malaya and Sumatra.

Inside Singapore harbor, steamers, Chinese junks, Malay fishing craft and sampans rode at anchor just as they did when I first looked over the waterfront a year ago.

THRONG TO THEATERS

Along main roads in the foreground motor cars, trolleys and rickshaws were carrying people home after the day's work.

In front of the famous Raffles Hotel cars were depositing patrons of the daily tea dance and outside the movie house immediately below people were lining up at the box office to see Joel McCrea and Ellen Drew in "Reaching for the Sun."

The oddest touch of unreality to the entire scene was provided by a letter which my fellow observer, Eric Davis, director of the Malayan Broadcasting Corp., received from a gramophone corporation, informing him that "record No. DB . . . is unavailable for broadcasting without special permission of Messrs. Walter Disney and Mickey Mouse, Inc."

Editor's Note:—"I am leaving." That brief message, written at the end of the above fragmentary but poignant dispatch telling of fearful air raids on Singapore during its last stand against the Japanese, was the last word received by the Associated Press from its staff reporter in Singapore, G. Yates McDaniel. McDaniel was the last American reporter to remain in the city.

Instead of placing the routine time-stamp at the beginning of his message, McDaniel marked it "definitely last."

INDIES PERILLED IF SINGAPORE FALLS

15

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The imminent fall of Singapore was described in military quarters here today as a blow of terrible consequences for the Allies—a disaster which would add at least an extra year to a long Pacific war.

It makes a successful defense of the Dutch East Indies highly problematical, according to this informed opinion, and probably means that the United Nations must fall back eventually on Australia as their main bastion between Hawaii and India.

Moreover, all the strategic advantages lost—whether at Singapore or other key points—must be bought back some day slowly and painfully at great cost.

The present grim situation might well have been averted, it was learned, had the Singapore garrison been able to hurl back all attacks on the fortress island for another month. Then, it was understood, the British bastion probably would have received ample reinforcements.

TIME VITAL FACTOR

If the United Nations had been able to gain that much time to concentrate air power in the East Indies, it would have been a relatively simple matter to strengthen Singapore.

As long as Singapore was in Allied hands the Japanese were prevented from using elsewhere the forces committed to the Malaya campaign. That was one of two main strategic reasons for continuing to defend the British fortress even after its value as a naval base had been virtually destroyed.

Singapore was also needed as a base for future offensive operations. Once its naval power had been restored it could have been used in backing at Japan's supply lines.

MUST BE RETAKEN

Now, it will have to be recaptured at great cost because—experts here say—Japan may well be able to defend it with more manpower than Britain has been able to concentrate there.

The manpower now released to the Japanese may be used either in the drive aimed at the Burma Road into China, in expanding the campaign against the Dutch East Indies, or in increasing the odds against Gen. MacArthur's forces in the Philippines.

The Indies campaign appeared most likely.

Attacks on the main chain of the Indies through Borneo and Celebes islands already are under way. The full fury of the assault may now develop.

BOSTON SCHOOL CHILDREN PLEDGE $100,000 IN 'BOMBER BONDS' DRIVE

purchase of defense stamps and bond.

"We are proud of our 4000 school teachers whose co-operation made this record possible. As in all such instances, our teachers gave their time and effort unstintingly for their country.

"I know that during the month of January the children will reach the $100,000 total and that the 'Buy a Bomber' campaign will be a great success. Boston, the home of Samuel Adams, John Hancock and Bunker Hill, again leads the land in the matter of patriotism."

In endorsing the "Buy a Bomber" drive Commissioner Downey said yesterday:

"As the Commissioner of Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts I heartily endorse the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser 'Buy a Bomber' campaign through the sale of defense bonds and stamps.

"In our schools in this state, public, parochial and private, with a total student body of 800,000, various devices for the sale of stamps and bonds are being planned, while many have been in actual operation for some time.

"These schools are accomplishing two things at once in connection with this patriotic movement. School children are collecting needed materials in connection with our conservation defense program, and from the sale of such items funds are used in the purchase of both stamps and bonds.

ESTIMATES HALF MILLION

"It is safe to estimate that Massachusetts school children will participate in the purchase of $500,000 worth of stamps and bonds during the month. Boston schools alone during the past month purchased over $82,000 worth.

"On the basis of the response thus far, Bay State school children will go well over the top. The four-week drive by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser is truly a patriotic one and should receive the loyal support of every industrial, fraternal and private organization as well as the whole-hearted support of citizens."

The state may indeed be proud of its school children, and a similar response has come from grownups, from groups and organizations throughout the Commonwealth.

For this is a need that requires no explanation. It is the need of our own victory by air over the forces of the enemy. It is the greatest need of our nation today—BOMBERS FOR VICTORY.

It is your pride and privilege to buy defense bonds and stamps without making a gift to your country. You give no money—you loan it, for your nation's security and for your own.

These are investments in your future, and in the future of America. This is your contribution to victory, and to yourself as well. But by this purchase you pledge your faith in America's inevitable victory, and you hasten that victory.

SPECIFY "FOR BOMBER"

When you buy defense stamps or bonds, you specify that their purchase is in connection with the "Buy a Bomber" campaign and the money you furnish goes into the Massachusetts fund to provide our fighting forces with the greatest air fleet in the world.

Every stamp or bond means defeat to the enemy, victory to America. Every penny invested is an investment in freedom, in safety of families and homes, in ultimate peace.

Be a salesman for Uncle Sam, and tell your friends to join you in the "Buy a Bomber" campaign. Acquaint local groups and organizations with this drive, and encourage them to join in the campaign which will send our fliers soaring into the air to keep the enemy from our gates.

The "Buy a Bomber" campaign provides an opportunity for every man woman and child in the Commonwealth to enter actively into the air victory program. If you can't fly at least you can "KEEP 'EM FLYING."

So BUY NOW. You know how important the time element is in this war. You know the urgent, vital need of bombers in those far-off islands where our soldiers are carrying on in the face of death. BUY THEM NOW—AND BUY THEM OFTEN!

GREATEST NEED

There is no weapon so deadly for the enemy as this weapon which you now may forge—the weapon of all-out buying of bombers. This is your country's greatest need and your greatest privilege.

Report your purchase in writing to the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Or telephone LIBerty 4000.

This notification should be made so that the amounts represented by individual purchases may be listed, beside the name of the person, and it is best to make such reports in writing.

Groups purchasing bonds for the drive are also invited to write to the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR. Following is the listing and amounts to date:

Mass. Dept., American Legion	$100,000
City of Boston Employees Credit Union	$10,000
American Chapels Credit Union	$10,000

CLEMENT A. NORTON
Endorses 'Bomber' Drive

You Can Specify Bonds Are for Bomber Drive

Individuals buying defense bonds may stipulate on the purchase application blank that their purchases are in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers Campaign.

On the left-hand side of the green application blank, opposite where you write the name with which the bond is to be inscribed, notice the three words: "Buy for Defense." Immediately above this is a small space in which can be written "Massachusetts Bombers Campaign." Write this only in the space described.

Individuals or firms buying either stamps or bonds in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers drive are requested to notify these newspapers by WRITING to the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR, 5 Winthrop Sq., Boston, so that the amount representing their investment may be listed.

It is specifically requested that individual purchases be reported in writing rather than by telephone.

HART QUITS AS FLEET COMMANDER

of the United States Asiatic fleet. In the recent reorganization of the fleet, Hart became commander of the combined naval forces in the American-British-Dutch-Australian area.

The American commanders actually in direct charge of the United States naval forces operating in that area were then announced as Vice-Admiral William A. Glassford, Jr., in the southwest Pacific and Vice-Admiral Herbert F. Leary in the Australian-New Zealand area.

HELFRICH IS 55

Admiral Helfrich, who now becomes "acting commander, combined naval forces, ABDA area," is the supreme commander of the Netherlands East Indian Navy. He is 55 years old, a native of Java, and a graduate of the Naval College of Den Helder, The Netherlands. He was a classmate of Capt. Ranneft, Netherlands naval attache here.

Admiral Hart normally would have been retired on his 64th birthday last June, but President Roosevelt kept him in his Asiatic command because of the increasing tension of the international situation and when war actually came last December, Hart was in the naval hot spot.

Since Dec. 7 there has been no day without intensive activity on the part of units under Admiral Hart's command.

GAVE MACASSAR ORDER

Greatest of these actions, of course, was the battle of Macassar Strait, in which joint American and Dutch military and naval forces sunk or damaged between 50 and 60 Japanese warships and transports out of a convoy numbering approximately 100 vessels.

Hart is reported to have sent American units into that fight with orders not to quit unless they were sunk or until their ammunition was exhausted.

Helfrich—full name Conrad Emil Lambert Helfrich—has spent 20 of his 34 years of naval service in the Indies, and at the time of his appointment as commander-in-chief of the Dutch East Indies fleet was the youngest admiral in Dutch naval history.

"SHIP-A-DAY" ADMIRAL

A specialist in submarine and destroyer operations, the Indies fleet under his command has its main strength in those vessels and in an undetermined number of cruisers—at least three, at most five.

It was Admiral Helfrich who, a full week before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, ordered his ships out to sea. As a direct result of that order a Dutch submarine, within 24 hours of the first Japanese blow, was able to sink four Japanese transports off the Malayan coast.

In the weeks that followed the Dutch navy and air force kept up their pace of sinking or damaging one Japanese ship for each day of war, and among Dutch navy men Helfrich now is referred to as the "ship-a-day" admiral.

Mobile Optical Shops For Armies in Field

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Mobile optical shops have been organized to accompany armies in the field and supply spectacles to the soldiers, the War Department announced today.

Each truck will have a crew of five men, and carry 12,000 pairs of semi-finished lenses and other eyeglass parts. The Army said approximately 99 per cent of spectacle requirements could be supplied from the assortment of lenses carried in these mobile units.

Official U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—Following is the text of the War Department's 101st communique:

"Philippine Theater—The ravage fighting in Bataan, as well as enemy air activity, has appreciably lessened.

"However, movements of hostile reinforcements indicate early resumption of an attack in force against our positions.

"There were intermittent artillery exchanges between the guns of our fortifications and enemy batteries on the Cavite shore. Our counter-battery fire appears to have been effective.

"Gen. MacArthur has sent to the War Department additional details of the aerial combat on Feb. 9 in which several enemy planes were shot down. Several of our P-40 fighters were escorting a slow bi-plane trainer on a photographic mission over Cavite Province when they encountered six enemy fighter planes.

"The ensuing combat was one of the most spectacular that has been waged in the Philippine campaign.

"Capt. Jesus Villamor of the Philippine Air Force, who recently was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross with oak leaf cluster for repeated acts of extraordinary heroism, was the pilot of the photographic plane and had landed when the enemy planes appeared.

"Our escorting fighters, instead of landing, vigorously engaged the enemy aircraft. A series of thrilling dog fights ensued. Four enemy fighters were immediately shot down. A fifth was crippled and veered off to the north, landing on an air field near Pilar where it was destroyed by our artillery.

"The sixth plane fell out of control and was ultimately found where it crashed in the mountains of Bataan. This accounted for all of the enemy planes engaged in the combat. One of our planes is missing.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

'NORMANDIE CAN BE SAVED' —SIMON LAKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (INS)—The New York Journal-American, in an exclusive interview with Simon Lake, pioneer submarine designer, reported from Chevy Chase, Md., the expert predicted today that the fire-wrecked Normandie can and will be refloated from her muddy North river bed.

Lake said within a year "the Normandie could be re-floated, repaired and put out to sea—triumphant over adversity."

Lake cited the salvaging of the 10,000-ton steamer St. Paul in 1918 as a method the Normandie operations might follow. A Cofferdam was built around the St. Paul, a waterproofed border of piles, and the dam pumped dry. Water inside the vessel was pumped out, then the cofferdam again flooded and the St. Paul refloated, righted and repaired.

Razing the surrounding piers would be necessary to do this in the Normandie's case, Lake said, an many divers would be needed, but in his opinion, the Cofferdam method is the "most practical one."

A salvage board of mechanical experts is viewing the $50,000,000 ship which was swept by fire Monday and rolled over early Tuesday.

VICHY, Feb. 11 (AP)—The French Line maintains full claims to indemnity ofr the loss of the burning of the Normandie, it was authoritatively stated today, as the news of the mishap to the liner for the second day in succession crowded all war news off the front pages.

Doubts were expressed here over American optimism that the huge ship can be salvaged and restored, in view of French failures on similar occasions with warships and the liner Paris which sank in Le Harve harbor.

2 Jap Police Officials Held in FBI Spy Roundup

SALINAS, Cal., Feb. 11 (AP)—Two high Japanese police officials, one of them a former police chief of Tokyo who came here as a Buddhist priest, are among a score of Japanese seized by federal agents in their relentless raid on a ring of Jap colonies in this area.

A raid on a Buddhist temple here netted three priests yesterday, along with a truckload of contraband. One of the three, the Rev. Koyo Tamanaha, was described by officers as a former Tokyo police chief.

Yaichi Takatayashi, the proprietor of a Salinas laundry, was identified as a former high police official of Japan and a close friend of Emperor Hirohito's brother.

Agents said the three priests and Takatayashi had come to this country in the last few months.

The officers searched 45 places, seized 20 Japanese and confiscated the following:

Five pistols, eight rifles, 14 shotguns, six radios, a quantity of sulphuric acid, four floodlights, one crystal microphone, one amplifier, four spotlights, 60,845 rounds of rifle ammunition, 14,833 rounds of shotgun ammunition, 50 rounds of pistol ammunition, four motion picture projectors, eight pairs of binoculars and six cameras.

He jumped with the 'chute unfolded beforehand but the 28-foot regulation silk umbrella did not check his fall until he was only 30 feet from the floor. He landed in a pool of water to soften the shock.

Exclusive — MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS:

Aid From All Races

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

NEW YORK CITY, TUESDAY—I went last night to speak at a patriotic rally held in one of the large churches in Washington. Those present reiterated again their willingness to fight and die for the United States, and recounted the part that the colored people had played in the history of our country during every war.

I never like to have us remember only our contributions as military contributions, because there are so many things which people have given in times of peace which are just as important to the development of the country, even when these horrible days of war are upon us.

All of our racial groups have made a vast contribution to the development of the United States. Many of them have worked in our fields and have developed our agriculture. Without them the cotton fields of the South would never have been tilled and the wheat fields of the West would not have produced their abundance.

OUR MINES would not have been developed. Our factories would not have operated without the countless people who, once upon a time, came to these shores from Africa, Europe, the Near East and the Far East.

It is not only in these material ways that people have contributed to the development of this country. Think of what has been given by writers, painters, actors, dancers and musicians to the general culture of the nation.

No country is fully civilized which cannot appreciate its artists. They make a contribution not just to the entertainment side of life, but to the educational, economic and spiritual sides.

I had a word before I left Washington that Franklin, Jr., came through his operation very successfully, though it was found to be most necessary. I am now on my way to New York city by plane and hope to see him this afternoon.

I WAS GLAD of the chance to see this Naval Hospital in Brooklyn, New York. I know the one in Washington very well, but I think it is always a satisfaction to the families of the boys in service to know that, if the boys are taken ill, care will be the best possible, like that given in any private hospital in the country.

A great deal depends on one's surroundings when one is suffering from any illness. The cleanliness and cheerfulness of the atmosphere in the Brooklyn Naval Hospital will, I am sure, contribute to the rapid recovery of the patients.

Romance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

IT WAS A CASE OF LOVE at first sight when I met her at a friend's home.

One evening when I went to her house I found another man there. I stayed after he had left, and she told me she loved this other fellow.

A week afterward she wrote me, saying she made a mistake and that I was the one she really loves.

I've been called in the draft and must leave for camp in a few weeks, and I'm worried about leaving her to the other man. Would you advise me to take a chance with her and hope she'll get over this man, or am I foolish for continuing with her in spite of the present situation? PAUL.

Someone has said if we only knew why anyone did anything, it would be one of the world's most valuable discoveries. Impulse is the answer to most of our unaccountable actions. After the young lady confessed she cared for the other man, probably she took time to compare him with you, and it proved advantageous to you. I'd wait a while before saying anything about marriage until she has had a longer time to consider.

Possibly after you go to camp she will come to her senses and see that you're the better man of the two. Write to her and don't let her forget about you.

PLANS for one of society's first spring weddings are announced today by Dr. and Mrs. George Parkman Denny of Beacon st., whose daughter, Nancy A. Denny, has chosen Saturday, March 28th as the date for her marriage to Charles H. Weed of Milton.

The afternoon ceremony will be performed at St. Michael's Church in Milton . . . The attractive bride, who was one of last winter's outstanding debutantes, will be attended by four bridesmaids—Constance Bradlee, Sylvia Choate, Jenny McKean and Sally Cole . . .

The couple will reside temporarily in Boston . . . The future bridegroom, son of Mrs. Arthur H. Weed of Milton and the late Mr. Weed, graduated from Milton Academy, attended Santa Barbara School and received his degree from Harvard last June . . .

Miss Denny is a sister of the former Charlotte Denny whose marriage to Oscar Menderson Schloss, Jr., of New York, was one of the most fashionable nuptials of the North Shore summer season in 1938 . . . The wedding was at Emmanual Church, Manchester, with a reception at the Dennys' North Shore estate . . . Nancy graduated from Winsor School, attended Madeira in Washington and belongs to the Vincent Club . . . She was presented at a dance at "Blue Hill Farm," Readville, home of her aunt, Mrs. M. Hemenway Callan . . .

FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Jr. (Sally Pratt), have temporarily given up residence at their home, "Cedar Farm," Millis, and taken a house in Newport not far from Mr. Jackson's military duties . . .

Toasts will be proposed in honor of Lily Barret Brown and Charles G. Rice 2d at a bridal dinner given on the eve of their marriage by the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil W. Rice of South Hamilton . . . The nuptials are scheduled for a week from Saturday at the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill, with a small reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gilbert Brown . . .

A bride of less than a month, Doreas Whitney McGoodwin (Mrs. Robert, Jr.) who is living in a fashionable suburb of Washington, D. C., has a list of interior decorating and housekeeping problems for her mother to solve . . . The latter, Mrs. James Russell of Milton, has embarked on a trip to Washington and New York during which she will visit both Doreas and another married daughter, Mrs. Robert Swift, Jr. . . .

Every autumn Symphony subscribers thumb through their books of season tickets and make a note of which Fridays the concerts are to be omitted . . . These afternoons are then reserved for contract and duplicate parties, and are, of course, the only Fridays during the Symphony season that such parties take place — for, as everyone knows, any social affairs which conflict with the regular Symphony schedule are taboo in Boston society . . . This week happens to be one of the occasions when the Orchestra is on tour, so a number of bridge luncheons are in the offing.

Mrs. John Burleigh, Mrs. Frederick Crane and Mrs. Jasper Whiting will be co-hostesses at a tea at the Chilton Club next Tuesday for members of the energetic corps of volunteer workers who have charge of giving out wool at Bundles for Britain and Bundles for America at 355 Boylston st. . . . In these crowded days time out for purely social doings is a rarity so over their tea cups guests will hear a talk by Mrs. Ralph Emerson, chairman of the organization on plans for speeding up methods of supplying essential knitted wear to the Allied forces . . . Mrs. Whiting is vice-chairman of B for B and B for A . . .

DEBUTANTE JOYCE GLUECK, recently presented at a Polish ball in New York, is the daughter of Mrs. Sheldon Glueck of Cambridge, patroness for the program of Polish songs and folk dances at Stuart School next Sunday.

Pattern 9768 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards 39-inch fabric. To get this pattern send 15 cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) to Boston Evening American, Pattern Department, 332 West 18th st., New York, N. Y. Get ready for spring with our new Pattern Book. It costs just 10 cents and brings you colorful make-at-home fashions for every activity.

Women's Civic Body to Meet

Mrs. Edwin S. Webster's beautiful red brick mansion at the corner of Dartmouth st and Commonwealth ave. will be the scene of meeting and tea of the Women's Civic Federation of Massachusetts on Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Mrs. Robert Cushing Terry and Miss Elsie M. West head the lecture committee and are presenting Senor Loreto M. Dominquez, brilliant Argentine scholar at Harvard, who will speak on "What Is Happening in South America."

Mrs. Webster's house is particularly outstanding at this time of year, for the large conservatory adjoining the dining room is filled with an abundance of fragrant spring flowering plants.

Listen, World!

CHOOSE TO LIVE!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

DON'T BE AFRAID TO DIE
BE AFRAID NOT TO LIVE!
Death isn't the worst thing
That can happen to you—
Just ending, that's easy—
But going on
Without ever getting started,
Without ever knowing,
Or wanting to know,
What it's all about,
That's worse than
A million deaths!

Queer—how people
Shrink from death;
Strange—how they go
Easy-footing through
Their days,
Hiding risks,
Afraid to experiment,
In fear they'll be hurt,
Laughed at or talked about
Living what they call
"Safe lives," Practically,
Not living at all.

Terdread death, those people—
They choose death!
Which cringing thought
Assutious act
Calculating evasion,
Tchoose death
Beo they are afraid
Toose life!

"Who would save his life
"Sl loose it,
"The who will give his life
"Shall save it"—
Jesus said.
And it's as true today
He who would save his life
Shall find it wither
In his hands—
He who would run from death
Shall find his days as empty
As its grinning skull.
BUT HE WHO DARES
TO STEP OUTSIDE HIMSELF
AND LOSE HIMSELF
WITHIN THE CURRENT OF THE GREATER TIDE,
SHALL FIND A LIFE
THE OTHERS NEVER SEE.

CHOOSE TO LIVE.
It does not require
Privilege or power.
It needs only
The will to see
Outside yourself—
The will to wonder—
The will to take chances
And make changes—
The will to lose your life,
Your careful, cautious ways
That you may find and feel
The lift and thrill
Of the wider, prouder plan
Which is your heritage.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To all Greater Boston residents an urgent appeal is made for funds to push the United War Fund over the top. The drive closes today and campaign officials fear it is now in danger of failing to reach its goal. So do your part now, all should aid in bringing VICTORY.

THE WOMEN'S Patriotic Conference on National Defense, which just closed its sessions in Washington, has in its resolutions set the keynote of the nation for home defense.

This defense is second only in importance to defense by air, sea and land.

By the unanimous vote of the 736 delegates, representing THIRTY patriotic, nation-wide organizations, the conference adopted these 100 per cent American resolutions:

1—That the Attorney-General override the reversal of the Harry Bridges deportation order and forthwith deport Bridges as an undesirable alien.

2—That there shall be eliminated from our public schools such "unpatriotic teachings" as the social science series of Prof. Harold Rugg.

3—That the Dies committee investigating un-American activities shall continue indefinitely.

4—That any post-war "peace programme" shall see that the sovereignty of the Union and the basic principles of the Declaration of Independence are preserved.

5—That there shall be no "federal union" with the British Empire.

6—That "governmental appropriations and expenditures be kept at a reasonable minimum; that prices, wages and rents be stabilized to prevent skyrocketing; that inciting strikes, fomenting labor troubles, shutdowns or sitdowns in defense industry be considered a disloyal act and punishable as a criminal offense; that defense industry be drafted if selfish advantage is placed above the welfare of the nation."

There is considerably more to preserving our way of life than with guns and airplanes, although at the present moment armaments are, of course, of primary importance.

But the patriotic societies at this conference do not forget WHAT these guns and airplanes are ultimately intended for.

They are intended to keep totalitarianism out of our schools, our labor ranks and our political institutions.

We SHALL win this war on land, sea and in the air.

God forbid that we should lose it AT HOME by complacency and carelessness!

FOOD is one of America's most urgent war problems.

It is not a problem of basic supply, for this rich agricultural country of ours produces surpluses, not shortages, of food products.

The problem is rather one of preservation and of distribution.

Most foodstuffs, as we all realize, are perishable by nature, and especially perishable are the fruits and vegetables which provide the mineral salts and the mysterious vitamins that are essential to national and individual health.

The difficulties of storing and distributing these foods were solved long ago, first in the family kitchen, and then, much more efficiently and economically, in the packing industries.

And this industrialized method of feeding an entire nation depends for its existence upon the tin can.

Tin has been declared to be a strategic material.

With the supply of tin restricted and uncertain, the authorities at Washington have been considering ways and means of putting more tin into munitions by taking it out of other uses; and, particularly, by reducing or abolishing the use of tin cans for food purposes.

A people that is underfed or improperly fed is not capable of providing hale and sturdy men for the fighting forces, nor of carrying on the huge war industries which America must maintain until the war is won.

If it can be avoided, the food canning industry must not be deprived entirely or even seriously, of its essential material.

If tin must be rationed, the rationing should INCLUDE food industries as well as OTHER war industries.

If the canning industries know the facts, their expert abilities, ingenuity and skill will help the Government to solve this war problem QUICKLY and COMPETENTLY.

DR. WILLIAM H. WATTERS, who recently resigned as Associate Medical Examiner of Suffolk County, is the type of public official who will be missed by the entire community.

Dr. Watters has just written to newspapermen assigned to Police Headquarters words we like to hear. Let's allow his words to speak for themselves:

"I cannot relinquish this service and my association with so many friends that I have made in connection with it, without expressing my deep appreciation for the countless courtesies extended me during the past 32 years. During this entire time I have received from all of you the most friendly and helpful co-operation.

"During this entire period no one of you has ever acted in any unprofessional manner. You have all extended the best kind of co-operation, frequently have been of actual service in our investigations, and at times the cause of justice has been helped thereby, you have deliberately withheld vital information that from the standpoint of your papers, would have meant much in the sales department."

Is it any wonder we are all sorry to see Dr. Watters go.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Do you object to women smoking on the streets? A—It is all right with me though I don't think it improves a woman's appearance. Has a tendency to make her appear a little cheap and affected. Q—Who said: "Opportunity knocks but once"? A—Several are credited with this observation, the best known being Sen. John J. Ingalls, who wrote a poem on the claim. Judge Walter Malone, differing with the Senator, wrote the inspiring lines:

They do me wrong who say I come no more,
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door
And bid you wake, and rise to fight and win.
Wail not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane
Every night I burn the records of the day
At sunrise every soul is born again.

L. J. Bates, however, didn't think much of the idea of a man sitting around waiting for opportunity to knock at the door and he wrote:

While the loitering idler awaits
Good luck beside his fire
The bold heart storms at fortune's gates
And conquers its desire.

PASSING BY: Frieda Inescort. Daughter of the distinguished actress Elaine Inescourt, who appeared in many plays with Sir Henry Irving, including "The Bells." Freda was married on a Saturday, brides of which day are said to have no luck at all. However, it didn't come out that way in Freda's case as she has been happily married for 16 years . . . Tom Lieb. Football coach. Tom is from California but he coaches the team of the University of Florida . . . Vincent Lopez. Another Brooklyn boy who has made good everywhere. Vincent started out as a piano player in a Sheepshead Bay cafe.

SIDELIGHTS: Have you ever stopped to consider the fact that Mexico has a 4200-mile coast line on the Pacific Coast? . . . On his return to London Mr. Churchill hinted that President Roosevelt might visit England in 1942 . . . Japan, Mo., Tokio, N. D., and Berlin, N. H., will not change their names because of the war situation. In World War I Berlin, Mich., changed its name to Marne . . . Says Nina Wilcox Putnam: "Fortunately I have seldom been out of love, for without love I am lost." Mrs. Putnam in a reminiscent mood recently revealed her first kiss came when she was 16 years old . . . How would "Tom, Dick and Harriett" be for a title of a story of the eternal triangle? . . . When a girl of 24 marries a man of 26 the marriage has the most chance of success. Women marrying at 24 average three children, at 27, two children, at 34, one child.

SAYS HE: "Due to my wife's dilatory tactics in weight reduction which was most necessary for her, I took the matter in hand and demanded strict observance from her in the matter of diet and exercise," writes a Milwaukee husband. "The results were most satisfactory. She is now almost back to her schoolgirl figure. A woman who is reducing should keep a tape measure and scales handy at all times. A woman's waist line should measure 10 inches less than her bust and hips."

ACCIDENTS: Note another fellow was burned to death because he fell asleep while smoking a cigarette. There should be some kind of a gadget invented that will make smoking in bed fool proof. It is remarkable how many different kinds of mishaps that result fatally take place in homes and hotels. As for example that Chicago girl who was listening to her portable radio while she was taking a bath. The radio fell in the bathtub and the girl was electrocuted.

FRIEDA INESCORT
Actress Happily Married for 16 Years

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A feminine contemporary admitting the female is not the "weaker sex" does not refer to women as the "stronger sex" but as "the superior sex" . . . "That Chicago gal signing herself 'Seventeen' who said Glenn Miller was tops and Lombardo was for elderly people was exactly right," says "Eighteen" of Los Angeles. "Lombardo was recently named by a music magazine as 'king of corn.'"

PLEASE NOTE: "Marry the man who loves you, not the man you love," advises Daphne Drake . . . "Joan Fontaine and Olivia De Havilland are not actually raving beauties," writes a Californian who knows them well. "But their superb intelligence enables them to turn on a beauty that comes from within" . . . "So few few praise their wives to others," writes a Pittsburgher. I think you are wrong, lady. Iknow plenty of men who praise their wives to others. Why I have a letter right here from my friend "Beans" Reardon, the best umpire in the major leagues, which says in part: "As to it being unlucky to have been married on Saturday, there's nothing to it. I was married on Saturday and I have been happily married to a very swell girl for a long time."

ADDED DETAILS: "I have been a waitress for 15 years," writes a young woman of Manhattan. "and the best tippers are in order named. 1—Motion picture directors. 2—Race horse owners and trainers. 3—Newspapermen. The worst tippers are: 1—Baseball players. 2—Barbers. 3—Women" . . . According to government officials, women to whom corsets are "essential" will be able to get them despite rubber rationing. Among the innumerable things I don't understand about women is that changing attitude on the corset situation. If I remember rightly, in the 1920's, about the time F. Scott Fitzgerald wrote "This Side of Paradise," it was considered old-fashioned to wear corsets.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WITH ITS GIFT for brief phrasing, the Boston Rialto has condensed to "Bomber Bonds" the gilt-edged securities Uncle Sam is now making available to local patriots, through the enterprise of the Hearst newspapers . . . A show is either a hit or a flop, and Defense Bonds for the Purchase of Massachusetts Victory Bombers, or "Bomber Bonds," clicked at once with the nightclub regulars . . . Some of the lads you meet nightly at the various ringsides already are carrying "Bomber Bonds" in their inside pockets.

ORCHESTRATIONS OF GEORGE M. COHAN'S new song, "For the Flag, For the Home, For the Country," have appeared finally on Boston bandstands . . . It may bring a ray of cheer to George's sick-room to know that Mickey Alpert, the Cocoanut Grove maestro, has decided that the song is the flag-waver the country has been waiting for . . . "This is it," said the bubbling Mr. Alpert. "It has everything. It's a march that stirs and excites you like Mr. Cohan's 'Over There' . . . It has the Yankee Doodle angle, and a great trick in the lyric which will appeal to all Americans . . . I mean the couplet which goes: 'Tell the world that the feather's in his hat (Mister Yankee Doodle's)—tell the world, that the Yankees are at bat' . . . In 'Over There' George created the phrase, 'The Yanks are comin' ' . . . That's been lifted for a new song for this war—something called 'The Yanks Are Comin' Again' . . . We're going to plug the Cohan song every night . . . It's what the country needs in a war-song, we think."

IT WAS NIGHTCLUB OWNERS' NIGHT at the Old Howard, with Tommy Maren, boss of The Beachcomber, and Mickey Redstone, operator of The Mayfair, leading applause for Dagmar, a new find of the burleycue circuit . . . BARBARA SCULLY

On Her Way to Hollywood

A DANCER IS HEADLINING the Cocoanut Grove's show, the dancer being lovely Evalyn Martin . . . Miss Martin reached the top of her class just as Broadway's most famous musical comedy producers quit the business, went to Hollywood or—in the cases of C. B. Dillingham, Sam H. Harris and Flo Ziegfeld—passed on . . . Just think . . . Of the great producers specializing in musical shows a decade ago, only Vinton Freedley, and occasionally Dwight Deere Wiman, are still active . . . Inactive on Broadway are Earl Carroll, George White, Arthur Hammerstein, Schwab and Mandel, George M. Cohan, Dillingham, Harris, Ziegfeld . . . All of them produced at least one musical show a year, and two or three or four productions bearing the insignia of Ziegfeld were not unusual . . . Buddy De Sylva lunged into the breach a few seasons ago with a spectacular series of successes . . . At one time, three of Buddy's hit musicals, "Louisiana Purchase," "Du Barry Was a Lady" and "Panama Hattie" were all playing on Broadway at the same time . . . But it wasn't to be hoped that a gentleman with the Midas-touch this record bespoke could long escape Hollywood . . . Buddy was hired as Paramount's production boss . . . In the show he had planned to be his fourth hit, a spot had been reserved for Miss Martin . . . But it never came into being and Miss Martin is playing the Cabaret Circuit these days . . . FLASH: Barbara Scully of "The Student Prince" will be under contract to Warners if assorted scouts which that company has asked to make reports of her work in Boston bear out previous favorable analyses.

SAM WOODS SIGNS WITH WARNERS

By Louella O. Parsons

Sam Woods

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11—Jack Warner expects to keep the record Warners made earning $2,079,601 in 13 weeks by signing the best movie brains he can corral. Sam Woods is the latest to put his John Hancock on a three-year Warner contract. However, Sam retains the privilege of doing outside production. With George Kaufman, Herman Shumlin, Lewis Milestone and Norman Krasna all signed it would seem as if Warners will keep up their excellent batting average. Sam's first picture on the Warner lot will be the Ethel Barrymore play, "The Corn Is Green." You may remember that was bought with Bette Davis in mind—and that will certainly be some combination—Sam and Bette. And here's a surprise: Hal Wallis, who was reported feuding with Sam when "Kings Row" was made, will produce Sam's first Warner movie. The deal was made by Berg and Allenburg.

ELIZABETH BERGNER

ELIZABETH BERGNER has the inside track on the femme lead in "Watch On the Rhine." Her work in Europe is familiar to both Herman Shumlin, who is here to confer with Hal Wallis. Yesterday they looked at "Paris Calling," her first American movie and it's more than likely she will be asked to take tests. I understand Paul Lukas will be offered the role he created on the stage.

BONITA GRANVILLE has played so many sweetness-and-light roles it is hard to remember that one of her biggest hits was the horrible child in "These Three." What a meanie she was! Apparently some bright boss at Paramount hasn't forgotten her performance, for Bonita has been summoned from New York where she just celebrated her 19th birthday for the role of a grown-up brat in "The Glass Key." This is the Dashiell Hammett opus with Brian Donlevy and Alan Ladd. While Bonita's isn't the femme lead, it's a part to give her plenty of chance to prove that maybe she's a young Bette Davis behind that ingenue face.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Clark Gable returned last Saturday from Oregon where he went with Harry Fleishman, his close friend and manager of the lodge where Clark and Carole used to shoot. So far Gable has not communicated with the M-G-M studio to outline his plans. They believe he will complete his movie, "Somewhere I'll Find You," with Lana Turner, but no one can be certain—not even the director, Wesley Ruggles, who is awaiting his orders. M-G-M did not even know of Clark's return and if they had they would have waited for him to broach the subject of his return.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Diana Barrymore's real love is Bramwell Fletcher who came to Hollywood just to see her; Dick Paxton, Mickey Rooney's stand-in, has joined the air force; Cesar Romero hosted one of the biggest parties of the season and all went well until the tent in the back yard blew down. His guest of honor was his sister, Mrs. Robert Hope (not the Bob Hope) and his mother. The Gary Coopers, the Jack Bennys, Ray Milland, Ann Sothern, Bob Sterling, Claudette Colbert, Dr. Pressman, the Walter Langs and many others attended the gala affair; Virginia Hawks, who is asking for her freedom from William Hawks, dining with Raymond Hakim; Band Leader Al Donahue and his wife, the former Fredericka Gallatin, have dated the stork for next month.

BONITA GRANVILLE

Her Next Role That of a Grown-Up Brat

She is Maria Elena, who is on-with-the-new-off-with-the-old-love in "She-Devil Island," a made-in-Mexico film with an all-Mexican cast which has to do with a fabulous island of Virgins. Sloe-eyed Carmen Guerrero plays the starring role of Maria Elena.

Pearl Harbor Attack Film at Old South

Old South Newsreel Theater is currently featuring on its screen the official pictures of the Pearl Harbor attack, made under a hail of enemy fire. The burning and sinking of the U.S.S. Arizona and the crippling of the U.S.S. Omaha are graphically shown.

In recapitulation, there is the announcement that the planes lost in that fight have been replaced many times over and President Roosevelt's declaration that "We are going to win this war, and win the peace."

Katharine Hepburn Appears In New Guild Play March 2

"Without Love," Philip Barry's new play with Katharine Hepburn and Elliot Nugent, comes to the Colonial Theater for a single week, beginning March 2, under Theater Guild auspices.

It will not be on subscription since the Guild's subscription schedule is filled. However, subscribers will be permitted to purchase tickets at reduced rates.

Robert B. Sinclair will direct "Without Love." The setting will be by Robert Edmond Jones. Lawrence Langner and Theresa Helburn are supervising the production. The new Barry play is modern comedy with a Washington, D. C., background.

Young Pianist Plays Tuesday

Bernhard Weiser, young pianist, will make his Boston concert debut on Tuesday evening, at Jordan Hall. He was at the Juilliard Institute of Musical Art for four and a half years on a fellowship, his living expenses financed by a benefactress.

This period of study was succeeded by a summer at Colorado Springs where he made his first professional appearance as soloist with the Colorado State Orchestra, playing the "Emperor" Concerto.

This, in turn, was followed by a New York appearance as soloist with the Madrigal Society. He continued his studies abroad, and made a very successful concert tour in the Scandinavian countries.

—FOR VICTORY: BUY BONDS—

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Menuhin Began Career When 7

Yehudi Menuhin, whose eagerly awaited concert takes place this Sunday afternoon in Symphony Hall, was born in New York city. His first public appearance was in San Francisco when seven. He has appeared locally as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Koussevitzky, and has performed under the batons of Toscanini, Stokowski, Barbirolli, Bruno Walter and Thomas Beecham.

This Sunday's afternoon concert by the celebrated violinist is notable because he will give the first Boston performance in its complete edition of Paganini's B Minor Concerto. The rest of his popular program includes Beethoven's Sonata in D major, Corelli's La Folia and Ravel's Tzigane, and three Brahms Hungarian Dances.

TWO FIRST RUN PICTURES ON PARAMOUNT AND FENWAY SCREENS THURSDAY

3 Stars Feature Spy Ring Film

The new Paramount and Fenway screen bill, starting Thursday, will offer two first-run features, "Dangerously They Live," starring John Garfield, Raymond Massey and Nancy Coleman, and "Lady for a Night," with Joan Blondell and John Wayne.

Two Americans who foil the plot of an enemy spy ring and thus save a whole fleet of Britain-bound ships from enemy submarines are the hero and heroine of "Dangerously They Live."

The girl, who is employed by a British export company, is kidnaped by the spy ring but is injured in a traffic accident. Taken to a hospital, she confides her plight to the attending interne who aids her. The girl and interne are Nancy Coleman and John Garfield.

Raymond Massey and Moroni Olsen are the spy ring organizers. Robert Florey directed the production from Marion Parsonnett's screen play.

"Lady for a Night" is the story of Jenny Blake, gambling-boat proprietress who tries to lift into society's upper strata. Supporting Miss Blondell and Wayne are Ray Middleton, Phillip Merivale, Blanche Yurka and the Hall Johnson choir.

Damon Runyon Sticks To Newspaper Style

Damon Runyon can't get rid of those sun-dodging habits he acquired through years of working for morning newspapers. The RKO-Radio producer checks in at the studio at 4 p. m. daily, writes until the wee hours on "It Comes Up Love," his first film based on his own story, "Little Pinks."

'Louisiana Purchase' Plays to Capacity Audiences at Met

Technicolor Film Held 2d Week

"Louisiana Purchase," the Broadway stage hit of a couple of years ago, which has been transferred to the screen by its impresario, Buddy De Sylva, as a faithful replica of the original footlights production, is playing to capacity houses at the Metropolitan Theater.

It is rare that the Met alters its policy of holding a picture beyond one week, but the "Louisiana Purchase" box office business demands a holdover.

And so it is that those who may have missed this handsome technicolor film version of one of New York's most sensational stage successes are given a second week's grace in which to catch it.

"Louisiana Purchase" is a lulu, possessed of all the ingredients of successful entertainment. It has Zorina, that darling of a funny Victor Moore, naughty but nice Irene Bordoni, quantities of the loveliest girls you'll ever see . . . plus the one and only Bob Hope.

It has, moreover, a tuneful Irving Berlin score and an irresistibly gay and funny story that plays ducks and drakes with Louisiana politics during the Huey Long regime. There's not a serious nor a dull moment in the 1 hour and 37 minutes of unreeling.

The co-feature, "Pacific Blackout," is a timely mystery featuring Robert Preston and Martha O'Driscoll.

Plans High Hat Burlesque

Broadway's Mike Todd, who might have been dreamed up by William Saroyan, has come up with a most provocative idea—burlesque with a top-hat.

Confident he can persuade Ferenc Molnar and Saroyan to contribute some subtle slapstick blackouts or short comedy sketches, he plans to present a revue utilizing burlesque technique swanked up with costumes and sets.

He hopes to have it ready for a late spring premiere at a playhouse to be renamed the Gypsy Rose Lee Theater. Miss Lee, who has written some of the material, is to be co-starred with Bobby Clark, if the Theater Guild's future plans for "The Rivals" do not interfere. Hassard Short is slated to stage the production.

ACTING TONY CANZONERI READY FOR B'WAY CRITICS

Broadway is waiting to see what the drama critics, who have been rather harsh thus far with the season's output, will have to say about "They Should Have Stood In Bed," which opens Friday with Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, in the cast.

The worst they've had to take have been some indignant letters and some scorching verses from Ben Hecht, who authored the brief blooming "Lily of the Valley." On the credit side was the bird and bottle from Billy Rose, with the message "you've had one turkey (Clash by Night) on me, won't you accept another?

But Tony, who is presently having trouble with getting into his tights and with his lines, is no letter-writer and, what's more, he's in training.

Brazil Takes Control Of Strategic Island

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Fernando Noronha archipelago, northeast of the great Brazilian hump was declared federal territory by presidential decree as the nation further strengthened itself against possible attack. It was taken from the State of Pernambuco.

The volcanic islands are 125 miles off the coast of Brazil and almost in a direct line with Vichy-held Dakar in Africa, only 1400 miles away.

Beauty

THIS EXOTIC LADY with the diamond circles in her ears is turned out perfectly from the top of her red straw skimmer sailor to her toes, you may be sure . . . and you may also be sure that such a smoothie uses just the right perfume to match her personality and her costume . . . For a Valentine gift, Arline Gould describes a perfume "group" that gives you scents for four moods.

THIS PERFUME PACKAGE MAKES GRAND VALENTINE

By ARLINE GOULD

WARS MAY COME and wars may go, but romance goes on forever! St. Valentine's Day still brings tender messages and heart-bedecked gifts, thank goodness . . . and the lads who are limited to furlough or leave for their dates are shopping again for a remembrance. Naturally, they want to give a Valentine which will remind the fair lady of the giver even if he is far away. Flowers are lovely, but their fragrance fleeting . . . but capture the perfume of lovely blooms in a charming bottle, and you've got something.

We suggest, in fact, that if you can't or won't hint to your beau about a wonderful perfume Valentine, you might give it to yourself.

This special Valentine contains four different perfumes for different moods or occasions, all the products of one of the most elegant parfumeurs. It is a name as impressive as its products are lovely.

There's a dainty feminine one for your most lady like moments . . . a pulsating, seductive one for romance . . . a frankly indiscreet one for a daring gown and mood . . . and a carefree, fresh one for tweeds and the out-of-doors.

Its box is a gay and colorful affair with a romantic motif of gallant knights wooing lovely ladies . . . a nice hint if you are just hoping . . . or don't want to commit yourself completely.

Honestly, you couldn't ask for a more attractive gift, or one that would remind the lady so often and so pleasantly of you. She'll be awfully impressed with your good taste, too.

The amazing thing about this gift is that although the firm usually disdains any small sized bottles or prices, you can get these four vials . . . and quite sizable, considering . . . for under $4.

Call Arline Gould at the Boston American week-days, except Saturday, between 9 and 5, or write her enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for the name of this Valentine and where you can get it.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

THERE ARE TWO HOLIDAYS this week—Lincoln's Birthday and Valentine's Day—which give hostesses a good opportunity to entertain. St. Valentine generally overshadows Lincoln in the matter of celebration, so let's consider having a Lincoln's Birthday party for a change.

We might start off by spreading the table with a checked gingham cloth and setting it with plain kitchenware for appropriate atmosphere. A simple menu is always in order, but there should be plenty of food—sturdy traditional dishes like a pot of luscious baked beans, baked sausage, hot golden spoon bread, big molasses cookies or gingerbread, baked apples and steaming coffee.

There's nothing fancy either about a menu that consists of baked ham, corn pudding, and spiced apples, but it's substantial and follows the general scheme of wholesome eating.

Here are a few recipes, suggestions to aid the preparation of a Lincoln's Birthday get-together:

SPOON BREAD

2 tbsp. shortening
2 cups boiling water
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 tsp. salt
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1 cup milk
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Add shortening to boiling water, stir in cornmeal and salt, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Combine well-beaten egg yolks and milk and stir into hot mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in greased 2-quart casserole in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes, until well browned. (1 tablespoon brown sugar may be added with yellow cornmeal.)

OLD-FASHIONED MOLASSES COOKIES

4 tsp. baking soda
¼ cup hot water
4½ cups sifted flour
2 tsp. ginger
2 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup molasses
¾ cup coffee or water

Dissolve soda in hot water and set aside to cool. Mix and sift flour, spices and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until fluffy. Stir in unbeaten egg and mix well. Stir in molasses. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with coffee or water, beating well after each addition. Stir in cold soda and water mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheets and bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 10 minutes. These cookies may be kept soft by storing in a tightly covered cookie jar, in which a few slices of bread are placed. Makes 4 to 5 dozen cookies.

SPICED APPLES

8 firm, winter apples
4 cups sugar
2 cups water
6 blades mace
2 small lemons
1 peppercorn
Few small bits of stick cinnamon
Whole cloves

Pare the apples and drop in cold water to stand while the syrup is made. To the sugar, add the water and bring to a boil. Add mace, shredded peel of lemons, peppercorn and cinnamon. Stick four whole cloves in each apple, drop apples into boiling syrup with strained juice of the lemons. Boil fruit rapidly for five minutes, turn it over and let it simmer until tender and transparent. Skim apples out with perforated skimmer, draining away all syrup, and arrange in a deep glass dish. Boil the syrup until it jellies when dropped on a cold plate, dip it by spoonfuls over the apples, set in a cool place and allow to harden. Serve with ham.

Fashion

YOU'RE GOING TO SEE loads and loads of frilly, frou-frou accessories this spring . . . maybe because the boys in uniform love the feminine touches on your gowns . . . This cleverly cut navy sheer, designed by Charles Amour, is a honey. It has the important peg-top skirt and modified dolman sleeve, both of which mark it as new, and a gay belt hand-painted with modernistic daisies . . . the crisp lingerie collar is of organdy and lace.

'LOAFER SLACKS' ARE IDEAL FOR THE GIRL WAR WORKERS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE vagabond slack suit that has been a vacation symbol for ever so long is now something that women workers are wearing in a very big way, folks who make them tell me. For many different types of civilian defense, warm and comfortable slack suits are what's wanted. And they're going like hot cakes to women who think in terms of possible air raids and such emergencies at home.

The "Loafer" slack suit from Pollack, which is sketched, is a most popular type. It's made of a heavy, velvety surfaced rayon that looks exactly like wool, and in a warm caramel beige color.

The shirt jacket has four big patch pockets for stowing away essential things, and it has a sports shirt collar and regular shirt sleeves. The slacks are rather narrow—about 19 inches wide—and very tailored.

First Aid Kit for Retreading

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Distributed by International News Service

My tires are so thin I have invented a first aid kit for retreading.

It contains a quart of cold putty, a bowl of welsh rarebit, a package of dental floss, some cold tapioca, a package of chewing gum, a big spoon and a cross-town transfer.

You mix the mess up thoroughly, apply with the big spoon and then use the cross-town transfer.

At the present time my worn-out front tires are in the rear, my worn-out rear tires are in the front and I'm worn out from changing them.

P. S. When I go into a restaurant I hang my hat and coat on a fire-plug and check the spare tire.

Dr. Gallupe Gets Rushmore Post

Gov. Saltonstall today submitted to the executive council the appointment of Dr. H. Quimby Gallupe, head surgeon at Waltham Hospital, as a member of the State Board of Registration in Medicine.

Gallupe, if confirmed, will succeed Dr. Stephen Rushmore of Newton, who resigned last week to become dean of the Middlesex University School of Medicine at an annual salary of $15,000.

Only the secretary of the Board of Registration in Medicine is paid, and as such Rushmore received $3000 a year plus an additional $1500 as chairman of the Board of Registration of Nurses. The medicine board will meet to elect a secretary March 13.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 17, 1942

Long Shots Winning at Hialeah

HIALEAH PARK IN Florida has been having more than its share of long shots winning during its current meeting . . . Tamil at $108.50 and Florizan for a payoff of $25.70 were among the latest thoroughbreds to pay off with juicy prices . . . George Seabo was up on Tamil.

There have been less than 30 per cent of winning favorites at Hialeah . . . The New England tracks made a much better showing . . . The Brockton Fair was the leader in the matter of winning favorites in the East last Summer with a mark of 42 per cent.

Favorites have seldom done well at Hialeah . . . One usually can win at this track if he throws out the first two or three choices and considers the remainder of the field . . . Alsab was one of the most disappointing favorites of the Hialeah meeting . . . The "wise money" did not go down on Alsab when Al Sabath protested the weight of 128 pounds . . . He insisted that this was two pounds too much in view of the fact 126 pounds is the scale limit.

American Wolf under a good ride from Jockey Don Meade only had 114 pounds on his back when he won to pay $36.10 . . . At the race track they will tell you that you can even stop a train if you pack enough weight on it.

Jake Freedman has been one of the big winners during the Hialeah meeting . . . Jake's Boston friends have cashed in on his winners . . . Histrionic was one of the horses that won.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mahoney of Newton are Miami bound . . . They will be greeted by Dr. and Mrs. Martin H. Speilman who have been in the Magic City for the past 10 days.

Golf Ball Prices

There will not only be fewer golf balls but those that will be available will be at higher prices . . . Some of the intown stores will ration the golf balls to their customers . . . If the golf ball situation gets too tough, one could swap a golf club for a garden rake.

A Michigan League baseball umpire was rejected in the draft because he was blind in one eye . . . The fans have known this was true of a great many umpires.

I believe they should give some special type of recognition for American youngsters who walk up to recruiting officers and just ask for the privilege of fighting a Jap or a German. Fortunately for the future of the United States there are many such boys . . . You see them marching down Federal st. en route to the South Station under the watchful eyes of veteran top sergeants . . . Some of these youngsters have enlisted in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps . . . Others have selected the Air Corps.

The Stanley Cup series survived two wars in which Great Britain took part, the Boer War and World War No. 1 . . . They are now battling to survive World War No. 2, and will probably do so by using younger players with a sprinkling of old timers

Conn Heavy Choice

It is expected that Billy Conn will be a 3 to 1 favorite for his 12-round bout with Tony Zale in the New York Garden on Friday night . . . Mike Jacobs says Conn will receive a June bout with Joe Louis even if he loses, but I doubt that Uncle Mike thinks there is much danger of such a happening . . . If Conn were to lose to a middleweight, his million dollar show with Louis would drop in value by at least $600,000.

Private Joe Louis Barrows will take a night off from Army life to drop in at Madison Square Garden to see Conn battle Zale . . . When Louis is introduced and steps into the ring in the uniform of the United States Army, he will receive one of the greatest ovations ever given a heavyweight champion.

BILLY CONN JOE LOUIS

Zale Can Upset Plans

I was present when Louis entered the Army after his knockout victory over Buddy Baer.

"I have no preference for any particular type of Army service," said Louis in reply to my question . . . "I shall do whatever they tell me to do . . . I will state, however, that I do NOT wish to a physical instructor . . . You know I can use a gun."

Louis' success has not been due to good handling alone. . . He has never made a false move himself either in or out of the ring.

Random Shots at Target

Tom Kanaly says there is more interest in the B. A. A. track meet at the Garden on Saturday night than in any previous set of games conducted by the Unicorn Club . . . The fact the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the K. of C. called off their track meets have made the public more eager than ever to see the national stars who will appear in the B. A. A. games.

George Freeman of the Irish-American A. A., one of the original Billy Conn boosters, will be at the ringside when the Pittsburgh favorite collides with Tony Zale.

It's Navy Night!

Ice Follies Open Here

Back to the birthplace of figure skating carnivals came the greatest of winter shows today as the Ice Follies cast arrived in Boston for tonight's opening in the Garden.

Roy Shipstad and Bess Ehrhardt, Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, Ruby and Bobby Maxson, Frick and Frack, Idi Papez and Karl Zwack, Fran Claudet and Osborne Colson, and all the other Boston favorites arrived shortly before noon.

Most of them checked into their hotel for brief rest periods before Navy Night tonight.

A capacity gathering will be on hand to welcome the ice carnival back to the North Station playhouse.

The entire proceeds of tonight will be turned over to the Navy Relief Society to further the splendid work being done by that organization.

ALL STARS BACK

The Ice Follies comes to the Hub with a nation wide box office record behind it, and it is more than probable that Boston will respond with an even greater attendance record than was established last year.

Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, always popular in Boston, will be seen in the finals of the first portion of the Follies. Beauteous Bess and Roy present "Romance at Midnight" They are supported by the cast in the number that has made the Ice Follies famous throughout America, the "Swing Waltz."

SLEIGHT-OF-HAND

The famous Ice Follettes, precision skaters, will offer one of the newest and snappiest routines yet to be presented on ice. It is a "stunt" number. Roy Shipstad also appears in this number to dazzle the audience, not only with the speed and skill of his skating but also with actual sleight-of-hand displays.

The Ice Follies will continue at the Garden through Sunday, February 22nd.

More Help for Navy

Employes of the Boston Garden-Arena Corporation notified President Walter Brown yesterday of their unanimous intention to turn over to the Navy Relief Society all of the payment due for their work on the evening of Navy Relief Night—which is tonight—at the Ice Follies of 1942, Boston Garden. The communication was sent by President Maurice J. Harrington, Jr., of the Mutual Benefit Ass'n.

SMILIN' BESS—Hailed as one of the foremost figure skaters to ever perform hereabouts, lovely Bess Ehrhardt once again is back to captivate Boston fandom in the "Ice Follies of 1942" which opens tonight at the Garden. Bess looks out over Boston from her hotel room this morning after arriving from New Haven.

ARMY LINE COACH FOUND DEAD IN BED

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 11, 1942

Ellinger, Blaik Aide Well Known Locally

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Harry O. "Fats" Ellinger, assistant football coach at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, was found dead in his bed at the home of Rep. Hebert (D.) of Louisiana today.

Hebert said he went to Ellinger's room to call him this morning and found him dead. Ellinger came to Washington last night to keep several appointments today at the Capitol.

Ellinger went to West Point from Dartmouth a year ago with Coach E. H. Blaik, under whom he had served as assistant football coach at Dartmouth.

Hebert said Ellinger's widow and a stepdaughter resided at West Point.

Ellinger, as the accompanying photo shows, used to attend the football coaches' luncheons at the Parker House during his seven-year stay at Dartmouth, from 1934 through 1940. He was most popular with the coaching fraternity, having a sparkling sense of humor.

He graduated from West Point in 1925 but was not commissioned owing to a physical disability. What that physical disability was never was mentioned, and indeed it seemed like a myth until today, because Ellinger was one of the most rugged line coaches that ever lived, getting down on the line of scrimmage with all his pupils and teaching them their lessons the hard way.

He spent a couple of years following graduation playing professional football at Miami Beach, Fla., and then returned to West Point as a line coach in 1928. At the time, Earl Blaik was backfield coach. They operated under Coaches Jones, Sasse and Davidson there, and West Point teams always ranked with the best in the East under their tutelage.

Davidson's comment on their departure to Dartmouth in 1934 is worth repeating:

"I consider Red Blaik one of the finest football strategists in the game, and Harry Ellinger the best line coach in the country. Dartmouth is very fortunate in obtaining their services."

That Davidson was correct in his appraisal of his capable aides is shown by the fact that football at Army immediately tok a nose-dive, until in 1940 it won only one game, and that from a minor opponent (Williams) by a 20-19 score.

In the meantime, Dartmouth football, which was in a sorry state at their advent, rose to the heights. In all, Green elevens won 45 games, lost only 15 and tied four during the seven-year regime of Blaik and Ellinger.

During their tenure, the Green scored its first victory over Yale, defeating the Elis 14-6 in 1935; defeated Harvard seven consecutive times, upset Cornell's mightiest eleven in 1940, 3-0, in that famous "fifth down" game. Their teams rolled up 1507 points to 428 for opponents. Their 1937 eleven was undefeated. In fact, during the seasons of 1936, 1937 and 1938, the Green went through 20 games without defeat.

At the close of the 1940 season, when Brig.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger became superintendent at West Point, he immediately sought out Blaik to put football on its feet at the Plains again.

Blaik on Christmas day announced that he had "accepted the challenge" and jumped back to the Military Academy, taking Ellinger with him.

Immediately Army perked up. With a paucity of material, the Cadets went undefeated until midseason, holding undefeated Notre Dame to a scoreless tie and losing only to Harvard and Navy. It was a personal triumph for the coaches.

Ellinger was married during the Christmas holidays of 1940 while B. C. was in New Orleans to play Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl. While on his honeymon, he attended that game with Blaik.

GRIMES.

PALS—Harry Ellinger, Army football aide, right, listened attentively here as Lloyd Jordan of Amherst outlined grid play at Boston writers' luncheon. Ellinger, former aide to Earl Blaik at Dartmouth and Army, was found dead in bed today.

Tech Tourney Is Shifted To Tufts Gym

The 17th annual Mass. Institute of Technology inter-scholastic basketball tourney will be held in the Tufts College gymnasium, Medford, this year, according to an announcement today from Henry P. McCarthy, director

War time restrictions on the use of buildings for public gatherings necessitated the shift from the Tech Hanger, original scene of the court battles.

Class B teams in the tourney will swing into action Wednesday, March 11 with semi-finals Friday and finals on Saturday. Class A competition will open Thursday, March 12, and continue through Friday and Saturday.

Prof. Clarence P. Houston, Tufts, will co-operate with McCarthy on details.

KRAUTS BID FAREWELL BY ROUTING CANADIENS

By BILL GRIMES

The most famous line in hockey, Woody Dumart, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer, put hockey behind them "for the duration" today after personally conducting the Boston Bruins to a dazzling 8-to-1 victory over the ever-trying Les Canadiens in Boston Garden.

It was a fitting farewell to Boston fans—11,000 of them—for the brilliant Krauts figured in five of the eight Bruin markers in an exhibition that long will be remembered.

They took charge from the outset with bewildering sallies that had the customers cheering from beginning to finish.

The comrades from Kitchener, who have been playing hockey together since schoolboy days, leave this week to join the Royal Canadian Air Force, in which they enlisted recently, fulfilling a recently-made friendship pact that they would stay together when the bugle sounded.

In the five years they've been with the Bruins the Kraut Kids have developed into one of the greatest firing squads in N. H. L. history and among the most popular athletes ever to represent a Boston sports team.

This was shown at the finish of the game, which Bauer,

Wilson Knows Denner's Good

Jacke Wilson, featherweight champion of the world, will arrive in Boston Friday to prepare for his 10-rounder with Abe Denner, New England titleholder from the West End, at Mechanics Building, Feb. 20.

Recognized by the N. B. A. as titleholder, Wilson will be making his first appearance since taking the crown and may run into a world of trouble against the tall thumper.

Denner has been steaming plenty about the recent ruling of the Boxing Commission that stripped him of his title.

After letting off his "beef" and insisting that the local talent was running out on him, Denner really drew a tartar when Matchmaker Jack O'Brien of the Boston Boxing Assoc. procured the services of Wilson.

But Wilson, along with other leading featherweights in the country, realizes that when Abe is sharp and fit he is really a tough opponent, so he wouldn't accept the match until O'Brien dangled a $2500 guarantee without the title on the line.

$20,000,000 U. S. AID FROM TURF SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (INS)—Racing, often somewhat ridiculously called "the sport of kings," will make a real "king's gesture" toward national defense and contribute a golden jackpot of from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 to its treasury if plans now under consideration are consummated, it was learned today.

Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the N. Y. Racing Commission, revealed this today but emphasized just as strongly he was in favor of the sport doing its bit via either a direct Government tax or nationally approved plan rather than simply as a charity gesture.

"I believe that racing should be taxed just as much as the traffic can bear, and that is plenty," said Swope. "But I believe such a tax should come direct from the government and not in the form of some charity gesture which would make it appear as if the sport were trying to buy its way off.

"Last year there was a total handle of some $510,000,000 in racing. There has been a few plans suggested to cut into this for national defense. A flat five per cent federal tax on the total handle has been one of them and if it is accepted it would yield about $26,000,000.

"I have another plan in mind, to tax only winning tickets. I figure if you invest $2 and get back $10 or $28, the average player won't mind contributing a small portion of it to the national defense fund."

"The National Ass'n of State Racing Commissions will discuss just what racing can do when it meets, probably next month," continued Swope. "They'll take up the federal tax plan and another, very similar which I cannot discuss at this time."

Swope, who has always been in favor of a smaller "take," because of the players, therefore believes a direct government tax the best solution to the problem of getting the most money from the sport.

Slice One Into Rough And You'll Be Doing Your Bit for U. S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—You'll be doing your bit for the Army and Navy every time you slice one into the deep rough from now on.

Members of the Greenkeeping Superintendents Ass'n—the men who condition golf course landscapes—have volunteered to turn over to the armed forces all lost balls they find. The Army already has established some 60 golf courses at various camps, as well as numerous driving ranges.

"Despite the fact that there will be an increasing premium for used and lost balls due to the rubber shortage, the golf superintendents intend to donate them for what they consider a larger purpose," said A. L. Brandon, association executive secretary.

Reduced Roster Aids Sox Pitching

By HERB FINNEGAN

Philo Gubber scratched Emerson Dickman's name off the Red Sox roster, and started counting the pitchers who will report at the Sox Sarasota training base Feb. 26.

"Mickey Harris is in the Army; Earl Johnson, too, and now Dickman has joined the Navy. Only 14 pitchers going to camp. Not much chance of any improvement in the Sox pitching this year, is there?" asked the world's champion moaner.

Let's see now. Last year the Sox took 20 pitchers south. We'll copy their names off the Sox 1941 roster alphabetically:

Norman Brown, Bill Butland, Frank Dasso, Emerson Dickman, Joe Dobson, Leslie Fleming, Lefty Grove, Mickey Harris, Herb Hash, Tex Hughson, Earl Johnson, Oscar Judd, Dick Newsome, Larry Powell (he's in the Army also), Woody Rich, Mike Ryba, Bill Sayles, Charlie Wagner, Jack Wilson and (not on the roster) the unwanted Alex Mustaikis.

There were 16 exhibition games scheduled before the Sox broke camp on March 26 and headed for Havana and the exhibition series with the Reds.

ONLY WAGNER HOLDS UP

You can judge for yourself just how much work a staff of 20 pitchers got in 16 games. Two innings for Newsome here, one for Dobson there. Kids like Larry Powell and Tex Hughson and Norman Brown were lucky to get two innings' action during the entire month of March.

Consequently they had little chance to make an impression and before the Sox left Sarasota Powell, Brown, Dasso, Sayles and Butland had been released, and other potential stars like Judd, Johnson, Harris, Dobson and Newsome had to give way so that veterans like Grove, Wilson, Ryba, Dickman and Wagner could get steady work to prepare them for the season's opening.

Joe Cronin's Big Five at the beginning of the season were Wilson, Grove, Ryba, Dickman and Wagner.

That he guessed wrong may be gleaned from the fact that at season's end his three best pitchers were Newsome, Dobson and Wagner.

Newsome didn't get a chance to work until April 28. Dobson didn't start a game until May 21. Wagner, alone of the early "Big Five," lived up to expectations.

Wilson fell by the wayside early and won only four games all season. Grove won only seven, not one after he gained his 300th major league victory late in July. Ryba was relegated to a relief role, and Dickman was shipped to Louisville, though that demotion was hard to figure.

HUGHSON'S SORE ARM

Hughson, not given a look-in down South, was shipped to Louisville where he won seven games in a row and was called back pronto. He proceeded to burn up the American League when the Sox took him back in mid-season only to come up with the inevitable sore arm which seems to be the fate of all young Sox pitching proteges—Hash, Butland, Harris, Johnson, Rich et al.

Judd, who pitched to only one major league hitter before he was shunted to Louisville, was acclaimed "the best southpaw in the American Ass'n" at season's end.

Yes, whether the Sox will admit it or not, they booted some fine pitchers all over the lot, many to the minors.

That's why we can't agree with the melancholy Philo on the '42 pitching situation despite the loss of three prospective pitching greats like Johnson, Harris and Dickman.

Twenty pitchers can't get enough work in a training camp to prove their true ability. And when the coaching staff cannot see a diamond in the rough, or a diamond in the fairway, it is better for all concerned that they take a smaller pitching staff to camp so that every one can get a genuine trial.

A club doesn't need 20 all-star pitchers to win a pennant, and there is still the nucleus of a winning pitching staff on the Sox roster if the best men are chosen and worked wisely.

PAST RECORDS

Newsome, Dobson and Wagner proved they could win last year. They shouldn't have to go through any serious apprenticeship again. Mike Ryba proved a capable relief artist. His job should be secure. Their only tasks should be to get themselves ready for the pennant race. Let the new men battle for positions at Sarasota.

Let old Mace Brown (from Brooklyn) and Nelson Potter (from the A's battle it out from the beginning for the second relief post.

Let Yank Terry (26-game winner fro mthe Coast), Oscar Judd, Tex Hughson and Kendall Chase (from the Nats) battle it out for the other two starting positions. Give 'em starting positions if they earn them but don't forget the past records of Newsome, Dobson and Wagner.

TOO MANY GOOD ONES

No, the Sox trouble hasn't been a lack of pitching. Rather, according to experienced baseball men, it has been an over-abundance of it. So many talented pitchers have the Sox had that they never could decide on any given four or five, especially as far as rookies were concerned.

Woody Rich and Earl Johnson were standouts for a time in '39. Herb Hash was the early season sensation in 1940. Tex Hughson, Joe Dobson and Dick Newsome were at the head of their class in 1941. All proved they could win in the majors. So can several other kids on the staff if brought along properly.

Poor selection of pitching material at Sarasota has cost the Sox many a pennant in the past. With only 14 prospects to look over this year and many of them known quantities, it shouldn't happen again.

ENGLISH SIX TACKLES LATIN FOR HUB TITLE

Public Latin and English, rivals on gridiron, diamond and ice for many years, square off tomorrow afternoon at the Arena in a hockey game that should decide the championship of the city division.

Both sextets, deadlocked for first place with identical records of four wins and one loss, meet in the final game of the season.

Also on the matinee docket are four more Boston schools to make their final appearance on ice this year. Following the feature game will be the Mechanic Arts-Trade and Commerce-Roxbury Memorial fracas.

Both Latin and English went through their season practically the same. They won their first four games and then dropped their fifth.

The double blue, with Capt. Charley O'Malley in the nets, won its first four games by the shutout route. It wasn't until in the Commerce game last weel. that a goal was scored on him and on that day, the Pen and Pencil boys beat him on three occasions to win by a 3 to 0 score.

WATCH JASPER 880 FRESHMAN IN B.A.A. MEET

Fird Sickinger's name may mean as little as Philo Gubber's to Bostonians today, but it may be different next Sunday.

Sickinger is the Manhattan freshman who won the special 880 at the Millrose games last Saturday in 1:55.5, defeating Dartmouth's great Don Burnham and national champion Campbell Kane in the process. Now 1:55 isn't remarkable, considering that half miles are being run in 1:52 and better today, but it was most creditable at Millrose because of the jostling that went on.

Sickinger will make his Boston debut in the "Hollis 600" when the B. A. A. stages its 53rd annual set of track and field games at the Garden Saturday night, and though he'll be up against a stellar field, he has the ability to lead it to the tape.

Opposed to him will be Charlie Beetham of Columbus, O., 1941 Hollis 600 winner and holder of the Boston record of 1:12; Jimmy Herbert, formerly of N. Y. U. who is national 600 champion and who won the Sheppard 600 at Millrose; Roy Cochran, Indiana flyer who was runner-up to Herbert in both the national and Sheppard specials, and Arky Erwin, national senior 400 meters hurdles champion.

Naturally, with such a limited field, a new record is anticipated. Herbert is flying and so is Cochran. But there are many who believe Sickinger will win because the youngster has a fine 440-yard background. He was New York schoolboy king of the quarter milers a few years back, which means he has the speed as well as the stamina needed for a record breaking 600.

Ever hear of a standout Negro miler? Never was, in our memory. Even the great John Borican was a failure at the mile distance and Saturday will run the Lapham 1000 at the B. A. A. games. But Xavier University of New Orleans is sending a Negro miler by the name of Ed Culp to the B. A. A. games, and Culp has a 4:11.4 mile to his credit already.

Good Will Skiers Study U. S. Method

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

International good will is being promoted on skis . . . A South American ski team, consisting of four Chileans and two Bolivians, began an eight weeks' tour of the United States last week with visits to North Conway and Franconia, N. H. The skiers are here under arrangements made by the National Ski Ass'n, in co-operation with the office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs. The group is now at Pico Peak, Rutland, Vt. From there they will go to Mt. Mansfield, Stowe, Vt., and then to other key ski spots throughout the country, making a most interesting itinerary.

The team is here to observe and study Red Cross First Aid training, the operation of the National Ski Patrol system, and the organization of the National Volunteer Women's Defense.

SKIING ONLY 10 YEARS

Chilean members of the team include Guillermo Ekdahl Pesse, Carlos Peralta Becker, Dr. Gaston Fuenzalida Bade, and Jorge Vargas Cortes; while Raul Posnansky and Roberto Soriano represent Bolivia.

In a recent press interview, Ekdahl Pesse, secretary of the Asociacion de Ski y Andinismo of Santiago and director of the Ski Club Chile, told us that Chileans had taken up skiing about 10 years ago.

"We always had scenery and mountains but never comprehended what we could use them for," he declared.

"We were like a man with a large orchard, who has so much fruit that he does not treasure it," added Peralta Becker, youngest member of the group and winner last year of all four events of the Chilean championships in Class B.

Ekdahl Pesse said that Chile now has between 8000 and 10,000 skiers. The most popular ski fields lie within a two hours' motor drive of Santiago, where there are plenty of open slopes and also a great deal of snow during the months of June, July and August, their winter. In the southern part of Chile, skiing is to be had the year around.

YEAR AROUND SKIING

This chap went to say that a ski tow began operation this year at Portillo and another is being built at Fareellones. Skiing has caught on with both women and men, and women are very enthusistic about the sport.

Bolivia, too, has year around skiing, according to Roberto Soriano, secretary of the Club Andino Boliviano. The sport was only taken up there about two years ago, but the country already has 14 ski clubs and La Paz, the capital, has about 300 skiers. The nation has between 500 and 600, he estimated.

DiMaggio came to the United States from Italy in 1898. His wife came to this country in 1902.

THIRD EASIER TO PLAY THAN SHORT---VAUGHAN

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—Playing third base holds no terrors for Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh's 10-year shortstop sent to Brooklyn in one of the biggest baseball deals of the winter.

And if National League batters think they can worry Vaughan by laying down a barrage of bunts, the quiet-spoken Californian is ready with a challenge:

"I just hope they'll try it."

PLAYED THIRD IN MINORS

Cookie Lavagetto, who held down third for the Dodgers until he went into the Navy, recently expressed fear that Vaughan would have trouble with bunts because he said the latter must straighten up before he can throw.

"I think third base is a lot easier than shortstop," was Vaughan's comment.

"At first it'll be strange, but it won't be long before I'll get set and get used to it.

"I played third my first year in professional baseball—with Wichita in the Western League."

He was moved to short when he went to Pittsburgh the very next year. President Larry MacPhail, however, apparently acquired Vaughan for third base, since his Brooklyn infield seems set elsewhere.

Vaughan joined the group here for the annual baseball players' golf tournament, starting today, but he came to watch and not to play.

PREDICTS PENNANT

He is happy over the change to Brooklyn, which he said is "the best baseball town in the world."

On trips to Ebbets field, he said he had hit pretty well.

"I'm going to a much better ball club," Vaughan added, "and I think we'll win the pennant. St. Louis, of course, will be our biggest problem."

Vaughan said he had not discussed salary terms with the Dodgers.

"I told MacPhail I'd meet him in Florida," he explained.

EAGLES MOVE NEARER TITLE; TIGERS NEXT

Boston College's sextet prepped for its important clash with Princeton at New Jersey tomorrow night by stopping city rival Boston University, 5 to 2, in the final game of a two-contest series last night at the Arena.

The B. C. frosh made the night complete by rolling over Terrier Pups, 14 to 2.

The Eagle varsity strengthened its hold on first place in New England Intercollegiate League at the expense of a Terrier team which tried hard but was never really in the ball game.

The victory was B. C.'s seventh circuit conquest of the season; its 26th straight win in league competition since 1939; and the Eagles' eighth win in nine starts this season. Only Dartmouth, which is headed toward the national collegiate championship, holds a decision over B. C.

Eagles' second line—Jim Edgeworth (Wellesley), Johnny "Putto" Murphy (Belmont) and George Malone (Arlington)—was a particular pain in the neck to B. U. Though the Terriers effectively tied up the high scoring Eagle first line—Capt. Ralph Powers, Wally Boudreau and Nick Flynn— the second wave skated wild.

DUMART SCHMIDT BAUER

TRULY WORTHY of honors, the Bruins' Kraut line stepped forward and received full salary and bonus checks from the Bruin management after turning in their best performance of the year against Les Canadiens at the Garden last night in their last game before entering the Canadian Air Corps. The Krauts not only received but gave. They presented all hockey writers and executives of the club with pen and pencil sets at a party given in their honor by the writers after the game.

Departing Krauts Receive Full Pay

Schmidt and Dumart turned into a rout, with mid-ice adieu ceremonies. The Krauts got a full season's salary and bonus checks from Bruin officials; watches from Manager Art Ross; gold identification bracelets from their mates and several other parting tokens from admiring fans.

They were carried off the ice on the shoulders of Bruin players and after this impressive "bon voyage" gathering, were guests of the local hockey writers at a private party in the Hotel Manger.

The frigid sport reporters presented portable radios to the Kids.

The inseparable chums said farewell with a flourish in the final period, in which the Bruins got four goals and handed Canadiens a thorough trouncing. Bauer, brainy little right wing, chipped in with two goals during the landslide; Schmidt had three assists; Dumart a goal and three assists. This was a fitting and proper finish, for the time being, to sparkling careers.

McGILL BAGS GOAL

Rookie Jack McGill, fresh up from the Olympics and playing his second professional game, started the avalanche of rubber which the Bruins whistled by Paul Bibeault in the Montreal twine. He scored at 15:12 of the first period, converting a slow well-timed pass from Eddie Wiseman.

"Flash" Hollett made it 2-0 at 16:21. Canadiens got a goal at 18:16, to rob Brimsek of his second straight shut-out. It seemed that an off-side whistle should have been blown but Canadiens got away with it and Toe Blake banged in a rebound.

Schmidt fed face-off passes to Dumart and Jack Shewchuk, the latter registering with a 50-footer, for two Boston goals in round two.

Then the Krauts blazed away in the final chapter, Bauer counting twice in 14 seconds and later aiding with Dumart on the final tally by Des Smith.

By the Associated Press

Just what team in the National Hockey League is it that is all crippled?

Followers of the Boston six, erstwhile leaders, have virtually rulsed all the ice around Beantown the past two weeks with their team. But last night the bandaged Bruins said farewell to their "Kraut" line with an 8 to 1 triumph over the Montreal Canadiens.

The New York Rangers, in contrast, have a roster filled with sound athletes, and their first line is monopolizing the top three spots in the individual scoring race. But the Rangers tumbled on their own ice, 5 to 2, before the Chicago Black Hawks.

The triumph moved the Bruins to within two points of the league leading New Yorkers, who lost their first game on home ice since Nov. 23.

IT'S HEADLOCK AGAINST HUG ON ARENA MAT

"Strangler" Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will return to the wrestling wars in this city after an absence of four years when he clashes with The Angel in a tussle for the world's championship at the Arena tonight.

Part of the proceeds of the show will be donated to President Roosevelt's Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Lewis has been in Boston for several days, and has shown flashes of his old-time form in gym workouts. The Strangler weighs 280 pounds which he says is 60 pounds less than when he decided to stage a comeback.

ANGEL FAVORED

"I tired of spending all of my time in one place which is why I returned to the wrestling game," said the former champion. "I think I have a lot of the Gypsy in me, and that I enjoy hopping around the country.

"I also believe I can win back my old title. The Angel may be pretty strong, but I don't think he knows as much about wrestling as I do."

It is expected that Lewis will rely upon his famous headlock tonight, while The Angel will use his bear hug.

The Angel will enter the ring a favorite.

A special match will have "Sliding Bill" Hansen of Salt Lake City, opposing El Diablo, the mysterious masked bad man.
